Conviction 'miscarriage of justice'—Reinecke

WASHINGTON (UPI) — California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke was convicted Saturday of lying to a Senate committee about an ITT offer to help finance the 1972 GOP convention. He immediately said he would appeal the verdict, describing it as a "gross miscarriage of justice."

Reinecke stood with his head bowed, shuffling through some papers, about 12:50 p.m. EDT when the jury foreman, Clayton D. Roth, a 29-year-old government intern, announced the verdict. The jury had deliberated more than nine hours over two days. The entire trial lasted 12 days.

The jurors convicted Reinecke of committing perjury when he told the Senate Judiciary Committee that he had not discussed the ITT offer with then Attorney General John N. Mitchell until after the Justice Department settled an antitrust suit the huge corporation. An indictment returned in April initially listed three counts, but two were dropped before the trial.

Asked if he would appeal the verdict by a jury of six men and six women, Reinecke said "absolutely, it was a gross miscarriage of justice."

California Gov. Ronald Reagan called the conviction a "tragic event."

"I personally have always had confidence in his integrity and feel that he did not intentionally do wrong," Reagan said in a prepared statement.

The verdict was foreshadowed when the jury sent a note to the the judge about a half hour earlier asking for further instructions.

The only count against Reinecke was based on four questions put to him during the 1972 Senate hearing. The jury asked in its note if it could find Reinecke guilty on the basis of one question or if they had to vote for conviction on the other three.

They were told that they could find Reinecke guilty if they decided he had given a false answer to only one question.

When the verdict was read, Reinecke's 15-year-old stepdaughter, Mimi, buried her face on her mother's shoulder. Mrs. Reinecke, her eyes red with weeping, called the trial "unfair" in the hallway outside the courtroom.

No date was set for sentencing, but Reinecke was freed on his personal recognizance and ordered to appear Monday before a federal probation officer.

The maximum sentence for perjury is five years imprisonment and a fine of $2,000.

Reinecke was a leading contender for the Republican nomination for California governor until the indictments were handed down. His popularity and financial support faded and he lost the primary.

Fire blackens Elephant Hill

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

Fire shot across Elephant Hill in southwest Pomona again Saturday, blackening about 100 acres of brush before firefighters, hampered by the heat and smog, were able to control the blaze.

About 40 firemen from eight engine companies, bothered by winds and temperatures in the 90's, fought the blaze for four hours before containing it, at 5:30 p.m.

The fire, which broke out at 1:30, was caused by sparks from a Union Pacific Railroad car igniting with dry grass on the hill, west of the General Dynamics plant, according to Pomona Fire Chief John Fowkles.

Elephant Hill has been the scene of about five major fires in recent years, the latest being in May, 1970. The hill was left bald as 200 acres were blackened in that fire.

Fowkles said firemen were not notified Saturday until the blaze, started along the railroad tracks on the north side of the hill, had shot up the slope and spread sideways toward Temple Avenue. It eventually blackened brush on the south side, facing Mission Boulevard.

Firefighters used the Pomona Police Department helicopter for water drops, and a county fire department patrol unit from Diamond Bar joined in the efforts. Firemen from Chino and Claremont covered two Pomona fire stations, for firemen who were at the blaze.

There were no injuries to firemen, Fowlkes said, and the blaze was kept from spreading to the police department's pistol range and recreation area, near Mission Blvd. Firefighters also prevented it from threatening the old Spadra Cemetery, a sewage plant in the area and an abandoned storage shed on the hill once used by General Dynamics.

Fowlkes said that a fire spreads 16 times faster up a hill than on flat ground.

He added that numerous hose lines were used in battling the blaze, which already was out of hand when firemen arrived.

Motorists were attracted to the scene, as smoke billowed into the sky. Traffic was cut off along Mission Boulevard between Temple Avenue and the Corona Expressway. Traffic at times was slow along Pomona Boulevard.

Some members of the California Community Alert Patrol — a group made up of valley citizens — were on hand to help firemen battle the blaze. General Dynamics even had a pumper on the scene.

Intense heat and smog didn't help firefighters in containing the fire. A high of 97 was recorded Saturday for the valley at Ontario International Airport, and a first-stage smog alert was issued for the area.

Tense, weary committee votes for impeachment

Recommends Nixon removal from office

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a bipartisan vote of 27 to 11, a tense and weary House Judiciary Committee Saturday night accused Richard M. Nixon of obstructing justice in the Watergate cover-up and recommended he be the first U.S. president impeached, tried and removed from office.

Six Republicans joined the solid, 21 member Democratic majority in approving a nine-count indictment of the President, less than two years after he won re-election by a landslide of historic proportions.

In San Clemente, Calif., where Nixon was secluded with his family and aides, a spokesman said he was confident the full House of Representatives, which must now decide the issue, "will recognize that there simply is not the evidence to support this or any other article of impeachment and will not vote to impeach."

Nixon is confident, the spokesman said, "because he knows he has committed no impeachable offense."

The six GOP committee members who voted for impeachment were Thomas F. Railsback of Illinois, Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, Lawrence F. Hogan of Maryland, M. Caldwell Butler of Virginia, William S. Cohen of Maine and Harold V. Froehlich of Wisconsin.

There was scant official reaction in Washington where political leaders appeared to want time to study the development before committing themselves.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, interviewed on the lawn of his Alexandria, Va., home, said "I think the odds have narrowed against the President in the House of Representatives."

Ford said he had made no vote count in the House and would make no predictions. But a moment later he said he thought the odds of impeachment are about even.

Ford said it was "interesting" that "every Democrat on the committee north and south, have voted for the article." He also said the committee makeup was not representative of the House as a whole and "it could conceivably be overturned on this one."

The momentous decision was sealed at 7:05 p.m. EDT, when Rep. Edward

House leader sees impeachment by 70 votes

'It will take a miracle to prevent it'

HARWICH, Mass. (UPI) — House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill predicted Saturday night that President Nixon will be impeached by a margin of about 70 votes in the House of Representatives and that "only a miracle can prevent it."

"I would say the President is going to be impeached. Only a miracle can prevent it at this time," O'Neill said in a telephone interview with Boston radio station WEEI following a House Judiciary Committee vote recommending impeachment.

O'Neill said that while no tallies have been taken, in order to keep the issue as nonpartisan as possible, "I'd have to say that around 50 Republicans will vote to impeach him and I would say there will be 40 members of the Democratic party who will not vote to impeach him. The difference would be somewhere around, I believe now, about 70 votes."

It takes a majority of the 435-member House to send articles of impeachment to the Senate where a two-thirds majority is necessary to convict. A large plurality in the House is considered essential to securing a Senate conviction.

Questioned about a possible Senate trial, O'Neill said "it would be hard for me to possibly conceive that the trial can be finished in the Senate by election day" in early November.

He said the trial would take around 10 weeks, and Nixon probably would be given a month by the Senate to prepare his defense.

"Although, of course, the case should be well prepared now. They're more familiar with the facts and figures than anybody else," O'Neill said in reference to Nixon's lawyers.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions—fast. It costs you nothing. Call Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. or write Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415. Remember, Heartline pays for all calls on its toll-free number . . . 800-543-2393.

Heartline: I was in the hospital 23 days. I say that Blue Cross paid most of my bill. My brother said that I was wrong and told me that Medicare paid most of the bill. Who's right? N.V.

Answer: Your brother is right. After you go on Medicare, Blue Cross only fills the gaps. The gaps are getting larger each year, but Medicare Part A would pay your entire hospital bill, except the first $84. Also, after you have met your $60 deductible, Medicare Part B will pay 80 per cent of reasonable charges on your doctor bills. Your Blue Cross should help pay what Medicare does not pay.

Heartline: My aunt is on Medicare and I'm trying to help her. I cannot locate her policy from Medicare. Mrs. E.

Answer: She does not have a policy from Medicare, but she will or should have a Medicare handbook. This handbook explains her benefits. If you cannot find her handbook, you can get one from your nearest Social Security office.

Heartline: I sent in my prescription bills to Medicare. They would not honor any of them. Why not? L.L.

Answer: Medicare does not pay for prescriptions or medicines. They will pay for drugs that can only be administered by a physician or nurse.

Heartline: I am blind. Can I get any financial help other than Social Security? J.K.

Answer: You may qualify for the Supplemental Security Income. There are certain qualifications that you must meet and by contacting your local Social Security office, you will be able to find out these qualifications and apply for SSI, if you are eligible.

Heartline: Will Medicare pay for a dentist? B.L.

Answer: Medicare will pay only when the services involve surgery of the jaw or related structures, or setting of fractures of jaw or facial bones.

Hostages near breaking point

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Fred Gomez Carrasco, leading a desperate bid by three convicts to break out of the Texas State Penitentiary, indicated Saturday the time for his break, possibly to Mexico, is nearing.

"I'm sure I can't give them (prison authorities) too much more time," Carrasco said. "The people are starting to break down. The hostages are giving up. I'm a reasonable man, but if they don't come through I'll do what I have to do."

Carrasco, 34, suspected of committing 50 murders during an alleged drug smuggling business in Texas and Mexico and serving a life term for assault to kill a police officer, indicated to a reporter allowed to interview him by telephone that he was tired of waiting in the prison classroom that he and the two other inmates have turned into a fortress. The convicts seized the classroom and the 11 persons in it Wednesday afternoon.

Until Saturday's interview with San Antonio Light reporter Clay Robinson, Carrasco apparently had been content to sit with his three pistols, waiting until prison authorities decided whether to comply with his request for rifles and ammunition. However, in an exchange with Robison, Carrasco indicated the end may be coming.

"The only persons I would take with me are three women and Father O'Brien (the Rev. Joseph O'Brien, a hostage)," Carrasco said. He said he would release them when he reached "safe soil."

"What do you mean by 'safe soil?'" Robison asked.

"I mean out of the country, of course," Carrasco said.

"Would that be Mexico?" Robison asked.

"Probably," Carrasco said.

Carrasco warned authorities not to rush the library or continue to refuse his request for guns and ammunition.

Some of the hostages, apparently nervous and strained, told reporters over an open telephone line that they were tired of waiting. One of them, Huntsville assistant principal Norvella Pollard, said she planned to quit her job.

"I owe it to my family to quit," she said. "I'll come back and finish the records and that's it."

"There's nothing harder than just waiting," said Bertha Davis, 54, a Huntsville teacher. "We can't stand many more days of this. I don't know if we can stand the rest of today."

Carrasco said earlier that he would first kill guard Bobby Heard, 27, if there is a shootout.

"I don't hate all gringos, but I have been fighting them the only way I know how and I will continue to do so until I am in my grave," Carrasco said.

Greece, Turkey nearing accord on Cyprus peace

By United Press International

Greece and Turkey neared agreement Saturday night on how to bring peace to Cyprus although Turkey kept pouring more men and materiel onto the embattled island.

Fighting on Cyprus was reported at a near-standstill for the first time since the Turkish invasion a week ago, with only an occasional sniper shot breaking the quiet.

In Geneva, peace conference delegates said Greece and Turkey were close to a preliminary agreement, but experts were still working on the text.

"The situation looks quite good and I am reservedly optimistic," said Greek Foreign Minister George Mavros. "I hope that we will finish on Sunday."

The delegates postponed until this morning a meeting of foreign ministers from Greece, Turkey and Britain to allow experts time to finish the text.

The three nations are coguarantors in the 1960 treaty assuring that Cyprus will remain an independent republic and not be partitioned.

Mavros and Turkish Foreign Minister Turan Gunes visited the Palais des Nations, scene of the talks in Geneva, Saturday to check on the experts' progress and give instructions.

Greek government spokesman Panayotis Lambrias said in Athens, "The basic points are now accepted by both sides which allows us hopes of a good solution —perhaps of a permanent nature."

Lambrias said it would call for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the island, including the Turkish invasion force and the 650 Greek national guard officers who led the July 15 coup that ousted President Makarios.

Earlier, Athens government officials and delegates in Geneva had predicted an agreement might even be signed late Saturday night.

The optimistic reports contrasted with those 24 hours earlier, when the talks were said to have been close to collapse.

Greece had accused Turkey of 50 cease-fire violations and Turkey said it would continue protecting the Turkish minority on Cyprus from the Greek Cypriot majority.

On the island, United Nations officials said Turkish forces landed more troops and supplies Saturday along their northern beachhead, centered around the port city of Kyrenia but were no longer expanding their 18-mile corridor to the capital of Nicosia.

Fighting had all but stopped.

Sniper fire resounded now and then along with an occasional crump sound of a mortar, but it was mostly quiet.

The streets of Nicosia were filled with bicycles and automobiles and more shops were open than at any time since the invasion last Saturday.

At Kyrenia, Turkish landing boats brought in more guns and supplies from a supply ship and in the town.

Turkish troops stacked boxes of food from deserted grocery stores into trucks, witnesses said. Looting of clothing stores and other shops was also reported.

A high-ranking Turkish Cypriot source said Turkey now has between 15,000 and 20,000 troops on Cyprus and about 200 tanks.

"It is an army," he said.

In the United Nations, the Security Council adjourned late Saturday after Greece and Turkey warned that any peace agreement worked out in Geneva will be of no force unless the truce on the island is respected by all.

The vote, a foregone conclusion except for its exact margin, was signaled a few moments earlier when, by an identical tally of 27 to 11 the committee accepted a substitute version drafted by Rep. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md.

The committee then approved the original article of impeachment introduced Wednesday night, charging obstruction of justice, as amended by the Sarbanes substitute.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N.J., gaveled the committee into adjournment until 10:30 a.m. EDT Monday, when it will take up the second major impeachment article charging Nixon with abusing the powers of his office.

But Saturday's vote on the cover-up charge assured that the House of Representatives will debate the impeachment resolution, probably starting in late August.

If the House impeaches Nixon —something it has not done since President Andrew Johnson was impeached in 1868—the President will go on trial in the Senate, a possibility for which Senate leaders already were planning.

When the committee voted, Nixon was secluded a continent away at San Clemente, Calif., with his family and aides. White House spokesman Ronald Ziegler said before the vote Nixon was "absolutely" confident he will escape impeachment by the House, but that neither he nor his aides would have any comment on Saturday's committee vote.

Before the first climactic vote on the Sarbanes substitute for the Watergate cover-up impeachment article, Rep. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., an American flag pin in his lapel, softly defended his forthcoming vote to his constituents watching on television — many of whom would disagree with his vote.

Republican Hamilton Fish Jr. of New York, whose father staunchly supports Nixon, said in a crisp accent that in favoring impeachment, "my vote is not cast lightly, my decision not made hastily."

Then the hearing room hushed. As the names were called, Rep. Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., said "aye" and pursed his lips.

Sarbanes gazed blankly, as if in thought, as he voted "aye." Fish, his horn-rimmed glasses now removed, had reddened eyes as he joined the Democrats in favor of impeachment.

The key paragraph in the nine-count impeachment article read:

"On June 17, 1972, and prior thereto, agents of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President committed unlawful entry of the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, District of Columbia, for the purpose of securing political intelligence. Subsequent thereto, Richard M. Nixon, using the powers of his high office, engaged personally and through his subordinates and agents in a course of conduct or plan designed to delay, impede and obstruct investigations of such unlawful entry; to cover up, conceal and protect those responsible; and to conceal the existence and scope of other unlawful and covert activities."

The outcome was never in doubt, but the closest vote during the long, at times bitterly partisan debate, came late Saturday afternoon on a motion to delete the ninth and final charge in Article I, which accused Nixon of offering "favorable treatment" to Watergate defendants in exchange for their silence or false testimony.

On that 23-15 roll call, Flowers of Alabama supported the move to drop the charge, the only Democrat to break ranks on any vote during the four days.

In addition, three of the Republicans who voted for impeachment in the end—Fish, Railsback and Froehlich — thought the "clemency" charge should be eliminated.

On the final day, the committee rejected all other attempts to eliminate any of the nine counts, either by voice votes or by roll calls as high as 26 to 11. The motions all were made by Flowers, a conservative Democrat who was among the ranks of the uncommitted regarded as leaning toward impeachment.

Flowers' motions to strike various paragraphs of charges seemed intended to put into the public record detailed supporting evidence for each of the nine counts, which the President's die-hard GOP supporters had demanded in lengthy debate on Friday.

The young, trim three-term Alabama lawmaker said he believed the American people should have a chance to hear the evidence to help them decide Nixon's guilt or innocence.

South Viet troops, Reds battle for Da Nang control

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist troops fired heavy artillery and rocket barrages Saturday near Da Nang and battled 3,000 government reinforcements for control of South Vietnam's second largest city, field officers said.

Lt. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong, commander of South Vietnam's northern zone, flew to the battlefield by helicopter to take personal charge of the government troops in the heaviest fighting since the stillborn cease-fire of 18 months ago.

Government commanders clamped a news blackout on the casualty toll. It was believed to be heavy.

Truong, considered Saigon's best commander, ordered more infantrymen into the fight. But they were stopped cold by an entrenched Communist force.

Early Saturday, Truong ordered more than 25 tanks and armored cars to move in front of the infantry as a blocking force.

Officers said about 400 Viet Cong got through and blocked all provincial highways to the main battlefield, 25 miles southwest of Da Nang, and the tank-backed reinforcements had been ordered to reopen them.

Government maps on the progress of the battle showed a full 10,000-man North Vietnamese division within 30 miles of Da Nang, with one of its three regiments headquartered less than 18 miles from the city.

During fighting Saturday, the Communists overran two 30-man militia outposts 13 miles southwest of Da Nang, military sources said.

Other Communist troops briefly cut key Highway 1 Friday just north of Da Nang, blowing up a span of the 400-yard Nam O bridge.

A fast-working government engineer unit threw up a Bailey span within hours and the highway to Hue, 52 miles north of Dang Nang, was reopened by noon.

The government has ordered a 24-hour air patrol over the Da Nang area in an attempt to forestall Communist air attacks on the city, which has a population of 500,000, about half of them refugees from earlier fighting over the years.

2 men arrested for robbery of area resident

Ontario police arrested two men on suspicion of first-degree robbery Saturday morning following a beating at the intersection of Holt Boulevard and Lemon Avenue.

Gerald Duane Norton, 27, and Robert James Metzler, 22, were charged with strong-arm tactics in a robbery which occurred at 1:40 a.m. Saturday morning.

According to police, Delbert Ervin of Ontario was attacked and robbed by two suspects early Saturday morning. An investigation by Officer William Haigh of the Ontario Police Department eventually uncovered the wallet and other items allegedly stolen from Ervin.

Later Saturday morning Officer Haigh arrested Norton and Metzler at the Orange Hotel, 201 E. Holt Blvd., where both of the suspects were residing.

Two on committee tormented over their vote to impeach

WASHINGTON(UPI) -- Two men on the House Judiciary Committee publicly expressed their torment over their vote to recommend impeachment of President Nixon —Reps. Walter Flowers, D-Ala., and Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y.

Flowers in his southern drawl and Fish in his clipped New York accent, asked Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., for time just before the vote. They were granted extra time, for what they said would be an explanation to their constituents.

Flowers said: "I have nothing to gain politically from what I do here. People in my district will disagree with me —some of my friends. The only way I could vote for impeachment is in the realization that they —my friends —would vote the same way as I must, if they had the same information."

Fish said, "I intend to vote in favor of this, the first article of impeachment. After long deliberation, I assure you, it is not cast lightly." He said the evidence "is clear," and he comes to the "inescapable conclusion" Nixon should be impeached.

Fish's father, former congressman Hamilton Fish, is a leader of the movement to support Nixon and has written his son numerous strong letters to vote for acquittal.

Both were against the last paragraph of allegations —that Nixon led Watergate defendants to think they would get clemency if they remained silent. Both voted to strike out that language in the articles, but they were overruled by the committee.

Doctor, 94, gets Medal of Freedom

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon Saturday presented the Medal of Freedom to Dr. Charles Le Roy Lowman, 94-year-old Los Angeles physician who was described as a "pioneer in medicine" and a great humanitarian.

The presentation was made at the western White House and Lowman became the sixth recipient of the medal in the field of medicine.

The medal was established by President Kennedy in 1963 to honor those who have contributed to the security or national interest of the United States, world peace or cultural endeavors.

Dr. Lowman was named "Doctor of the Century" by the Los Angeles County Medical Association in 1971. He was a pioneer in developing orthopedic techniques, including those for treating polio victims and in 1927 he helped enact state legislation to provide teachers for crippled children confined to home or hospitals.

He founded the Orthopedic Hospital of Los Angeles in 1919, treating crippled children "regardless of race, religion or ability to pay." The first treatment rooms were converted from stable stalls. The hospital now treats over 40,000 patients a year.

Agreement reached to end Southland carpenter strike

LOS ANGELES (UPI)— Southern California carpenters and the Contractors Asscciation reached a tentative agreement early this morning to end a 26 day strike that affected 11 Southern California counties.

Dan Peterson, chairman of the Contractor's Association, said terms of the three year agreement will not be released until both union and management have voted on it.

The union is scheduled to vote on the contract Tuesday. No date was given for the industry decision.

The agreement was reached after an all night bargaining session here.

The carpenters walked off their jobs July 1, crippling the $1.5 billion building industry in Southern California. Some independent contractors agreed to pay the workers higher salaries until the strike was settled.

Peterson said the new package covers cement mason as well as carpenters.

Southern California carpenters currently earn $9.46 an hour in wages and fringe benefits.

Meanwhile, San Diego carpenters, who have been bargaining separately from the 11 Southern California units, will vote a second time on whether to accept a new three year contract giving them a $3.75 an hour pay increase.

The San Diego workers are expected to vote again Wednesday.

It was offered by Rep. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md, and amended by Reps. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill., Lawrence Hogan, R-Md., and George E. Danielson, D-Calif.

Article I

In his conduct of the office of President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon, in violation of his constitutional oath faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States and, to the best of his ability, preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States, and in violation of his constitutional duty to take care that the laws be faithfully executed, has prevented, obstructed, and impeded the administration of justice, in that:

On June 17, 1972, and prior thereto, agents of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President committed unlawful entry of the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in Washington, District of Columbia, for the purpose of securing political intelligence. Subsequent thereto, Richard M. Nixon, using the powers of his high office, engaged personally and through his subordinates and agents in a course of conduct or plan designed to delay, impede and obstruct investigations of such unlawful entry; to cover up, conceal and protect those responsible and to conceal the existence and scope of other unlawful covert activities.

The means used to implement this course of conduct or plan have included one or more of the following:

(1) Making or causing to be made false or misleading statements to lawfully authorized investigative officers and employes of the United States.

(2) Withholding relevant and material evidence or information from lawfully authorized investigative officers and employes of the United States.

(3) Approving, condoning, acquiescing in, and counseling witnesses with respect to the giving of false or misleading statements to lawfully authorized investigative officers and employes of the United States and false or misleading testimony in duly instituted judicial and congressional proceedings.

(4) Interfering or endeavoring to interfere with the conduct of investigations by the Department of Justice of the United States, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the office of Watergate Special Prosecution Force and congressional committees.

(5) Approving, condoning, and acquiescing in, the surreptitious payment of substantial sums of money for the purpose of obtaining the silence or influencing the testimony of witnesses, potential witnesses or individuals who participated in such unlawful entry and other illegal activities.

(6) Endeavoring to misuse the Central Intelligence Agency, an agency of the United States.

(7) Disseminating information received from officers of the Department of Justice of the United States to subjects of investigations conducted by lawfully authorized investigative officers and employes of the United States for the purpose of aiding and assisting such subjects in their attempts to avoid criminal liability.

(8) Making false or misleading public statements for the purpose of deceiving the people of the United States into believing that a thorough and complete investigation has been conducted with respect to allegations of misconduct on the part of personnel of the Executive Branch of the United States and personnel of the Commiteee for the Re-Election of the President, and that there was no involvement of such personnel in such misconduct; or

(9) Endeavoring to cause prospective defendants, and individuals duly tried and convicted, to expect favored treatment and consideration in return for their silence or false testimony, or rewarding individuals for their silence or false testimony.

In all of this, Richard M. Nixon has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as President and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Runway repair reminiscent of Seabees

A major repair of the main runway at Ontario International Airport is being done with the same precision that made the Navy's Seabees famous during World War II and Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

Men and equipment swarm over assigned areas each night between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m. when no commercial planes are due for arrival or departure.

And the activity is so preciesely planned that each section is complete for a number of planes scheduled to leave or arrive at 7 a.m.

To meet the time element, an hour-by-hour schedule of each night's work is planned according to the previous night's progress and any last minute adjustments by the engineers, foremen and insepctors.

Then one minute after 10 p.m. a large lighted "X" is placed at the east end of the runway to signal to any pilot that the asphalt landing strip is closed.

Portable floodlights are used to illuminate the work site and men and equipment burst into motion.

For the next eight hours as many as 15 large machines may be moving within the deisgnated work area. Hundreds of square yards of runway are ripped up, debris hauled away, the sub surface compacted and tons of hot asphalt poured and rolled.

Airport officials began June 16 an 11 week, $80,000 program to rebuild the 30-year-old runway. This consists of removing and replacing concrete slabs with asphalt, improving the runway's sub base, and overlaying the entire 10,000 foot strip with an asphaltic "wearing course."

During a recent night, workers tore out a 70 by 190 foot section. As one group of workers completed removing the old runway, another group had already begun paving another sector.

Men on foot could be seen giving handsignals to the two dozen 20-ton asphalt trucks arriving on the scene.

By 3 a.m., the paving operation was in full swing and the huge rollers began making their final passes two hours later. As the asphalt cooled, the site was swept clean and a temperature test made of the initial area to confirm the entire segment would be sufficiently cooled by sunrise.

Officials made a final inspection between 6:30 and 7 a.m. and the control tower was notified the runway was again ready for airplane use.

During a 12 night period, nearly 23,000 square yards of runway has been replaced with 17,500 tons of asphalt as a preparation for resurfacing.

The runway "capping" itself will take 35,000 tons of asphalt to complete the task of leveling the surface and sealing all the cracks and joints to prevent water seepage to the sub-base.

The work is designed to add years of life to the runway which first served as a landing strip for P-38 fighter planes during World War II.

The project is being performed by the Los Angeles Department of Airport's engineering bureau and the E. L. Yaager Construction Co. of Riverside.

CAN DO

Equipment operators seemingly adopted the Navy Seabee's motto of "Can Do" in repairing the main runway at Ontario International Airport. They repair segments each night and have their work completed by morning so commercial airline traffic can resume. This is part of an $800,000 maintenance project contracted to the E. L. Yeager Construction Co. of Riverside.

Reinecke office in doubt due to his conviction

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — Whether California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke can remain in office after his felony perjury conviction Saturday was in doubt.

The state code says a public official is disqualified from holding office if convicted of perjury—but it was not clear if this section applies to federal convictions, as well as to state convictions.

Another state law provides for forfeiture of office upon conviction of crimes "specified in the (state) constitution and laws of the state."

After his conviction in Washington, Reinecke declared the jury verdict was "a gross misscarriage of justice" and said he would appeal. He did not indicate whether he plans to resign.

Gov. Ronald Reagan, who would appoint Reinecke's successor if the office becomes vacant, said he would have no comment on whether Reinecke will keep his job, pending appeal, until after he has talked with the lieutenant governor and with lawyers.

It was expected that the office of Attorney General Evelle Younger, a Republican, would be asked for an opinion on Reinecke's status. The attorney general's office said it had conducted no research on the subject because no studies had been requested.

IBM to pay $13 million settlement

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Ampex Corp. said Saturday the IBM Corp. has agreed to pay $13 million in settlement of a dispute over computer patents and marketing.

The agreement was announced in a joint statement by Arthur H. Hausman, Ampex president, and Frank T. Cary, IBM board chairman.

"We are pleased this agreement has succeeded in avoiding time consuming and costly litigation over the issues of patents and antitrust," they said.

Ampex had charged IBM with alleged infringement on Ampex tape and memory disk patents. Ampex also alleged antitrust law violations by IBM in the marketing of supplementary computer equipment and memory products. The settlement included an agreement in which the companies will exchange patent licenses covering their respective business interests in the data processing field, Ampex said.

Harmer campaign in financial woe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. John Harmer, the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, is facing fund-raising problems and has laid off all five paid employes of his statewide race.

Sources close to his campaign said Harmer's debt has risen from about $30,000 six weeks ago to about $60,000.

Harmer told the Sacramento Union Friday he laid off all five paid campaign employes because of the growing debt and the difficulty he is having raising funds.

Harmer said he will conduct a "virtually all-volunteer" campaign for the foreseeable future, although a few county campaign committees will retain a staff member recruited locally.

QUADS AT HOME

Finally all four quads reach home

Kristina Lynn joined sister Tonya Marie and brothers Kevin Michael and Todd Allan at their parents' home in Claremont Saturday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Struve's new additions were born June 12, becoming the first quadruplets in the history of Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The Wieters and their first grandchild, Scott, 23-months-old, welcomed the quads into the blue carpeted nursery with individual cribs and name plaques. The quartet was attired in matching turquoise sleepers given them by a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Pomona.

A plaque declaring L-O-V-E adorned a wall with delicate carved figures of chidren climbing over each letter .The feeding schedules were pinned to a bulletin board and surrounded by a host of pictures of the five children and their parents.

"I've learned to burp pretty good now," said Struve, a 32-year-old schoolteacher. "I feed them and change diapers, too. I'm getting pretty proficient at that."

"If you have one or two, you might as well have four. It isn't that much more difficult. It's just a little bit more burping and feeding, but it's not bad. At least not now," Struve chuckled, knocking on a wooden table beside him.

"Such grunters," Mrs. Struve commented.

"This is the best 33rd anniversary present we could have," said Wieters.

Weathervane returns home

BOSTON (UPI) — A "priceless" 80-pound gilded weathervane is back atop the historic Faneuil Hall for the first time since it was stolen in early January.

Actually, the copper grasshooper was never taken very far. It turned out the 225-year-old weathervane was hidden by the thief within the building without detection.

Trouble light may result in fatal shock

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission has issued a public warning of serious or even fatal electric shocks from a household trouble light already suspected to have caused one death.

Involved are 200,000 "household trouble lights" or "mechanics lights" sold during the past year nationwide by such stores as Woolco, Zayre, Korvette's, Food Fair, J.J. Newberry and others. They were manufactured by the A.K. Electric Corp. of New York.

The commission said there are no brand names or other identifying marks on the lights, and it advised consumers who may suspect they have one to take it back to the place of purchase to make sure.

The lights retailed for about $1.50 and consisted of a flexible cord with a pronged cord either 5, 10 or 20 feet long. The light socket assembly, with the bulb enclosed by a metal case with a wire guard and hook on top, is at the other end.

The commission said the insulating cover for the socket assembly also serves as the handle. The material involved, it said, is "exceptionally soft, flexible plastic" which when grasped in a normal manner can cause the user's hand to come into contact with the current.

The lights pose an "imminent danger of serious or fatal electric shock," the commission said.

The agency said it learned about the problem from a consumer complaint filed in June. In the course of an investigation it was determined that a death late last fall in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., may have been due to shock from one of the lights.

Parents need park 'n' swap

By ERMA BOMBECK

Through many years of observing the American family it has come to my attention that what this country needs is a Park 'N' Swap for parents and children.

I have never met a child who did not feel that he is maligned, harassed and overworked and would do better if eh had Mrs. Jones, who loves untidiness and eats out a lot, for a mother.

On the other hand, I have never met a parent who did not fell unappreciated, persecuted, servile and would have been better off with Rodney Phipps who doesn't talk with food in his mouth and bought his mother a hair dryer for Mother's Day.

What I'm suggesting is a Sears parking lot that could be made available every Saturday afternoon where parents and their offspring could come to look, compare, and eventually swap if they felt they could do better.

When I mentioned this to my card club, they fairly quivered with excitement. "I have always wanted to 'trade up' to a child who picked towels up off the loor," said Peg.

"I have one like that," said Dorothy. "But she's a drain stuffer. If it doesn't fit down the drain she lifts out the trap and shoves it down."

"That doesn't sound so bad," said Evelyn. "I'd take a drain stuffer over a shower freak any day. Empties a 40-gallon water tank three times a day."

At least she's clean," said June. ',I'll swap someone a long-hair who is an endangered species. Someday he's going to get lost behind that hair and never find his way out again."

"Look," said Peg, "I'm going to make you an offer you can't refuse. I'll offer my towel dropper for a boy who never learned how to use the telephone and I'll throw in a three weeks supply of clean underwear."

"I'll do you one better," I said. "I'll swap or trade a quiet boy who is never late to dinner, gets up when he is called, sits up straight, has just finished two years with his orthodonist, is reasonable to operate and doesn't play his stereo too loud. No offer is too rediculous."

The entire card table put down their cards and leaned forward. Finally June asked, "What's the catch?"

"No catch. He just knows one word. . . gross!"

Everyone went home keeping what they had and feeling better about it.

Cranberry water set

By DOROTHY HAMMOND

QUESTION: This pitcher and matching tumbler was given to my mother fifty years ago by her great-aunt, who said the set was about thirty years old. We have examined all the pieces (seven more tumblers complete the set) and find no identifying marks. All pieces appear to be perfect, with the exception of two of the tumblers. They have minute roughness around each rim.

The color of this set is strikingly beautiful, as it shows the combination of bright cranberry glass and the opalescent design. Can you give me any information about it and its value? Does this pattern have a special name?—Mrs. D.C.K.

ANSWER: Yes, Stars and Stripes. Your water set was produced by the Beaumont Glass Company of Martins Ferry, Ohio. The firm was established in 1895 by Harry Northwood's brother-in-law, Percy J. Beaumont, a native of Staffordshire, England. In 1905, company interests were sold to the Hocking Glass Company of Lancaster, Ohio.

The Beaumont Glass Company manufactured a variety of blown tablewares with different opalescent designs including the popular "Stars and Stripes" pattern. Your nine-piece water set in this pattern is worth approximately $450.

QUESTION: Please print a few words about the Royal Dux figures, as well as the Royal Doulton. I would like to know when made, origin, etc. I can find no reference to these figurines in our public library.—F.M.B.

ANSWER: Royal Dux figurines were originally made in Czechoslovakia at the turn of the twentieth century—and figures bearing the name Royal Doulton have been made in England since 1902—and their wares are still being made. Reproduced Royal Dux figures are now appearing on the market.

QUESTION: I own an old stringed musical instrument and wish to know its value. I found this instrument in a box about 20 years ago in the basement of an old church parsonage. As you can tell from the enclosed photo, this is some type of zither. It is made of rosewood, with inlaid pearl. I have the original carrying case, a tuning fork, and two metal picks as well as the wrenches for tightening the strings.

Although the enclosed photo of this instrument is dark, I hope you can determine that four strings along the side were used for playing melody as they have frets similar to those found on a guitar. Then, the 24 strings were tuned to play accompanying chords to complement the melody. Hence, the instrument was designed for 28 strings. Is this classified as a collectible?

An inscription written in German reads "Ignaz Siman, String and Instrumentmaker, Haidhausen, near Munich, 1852."—D.P.G.

ANSWER: If in working order, your interesting old string instrument is worth around $50-$75. There are collectors for such items, but saddening as the thought may be, there is very little interest in this field.

QUESTION: I have an all original oak shot case in tip-top condition. It is about 36 inches long, has all the original ten pulls, a small drawer on each side of the center metal scoop, and retains the original finish which is excellent. Painted-on bold black letters across the front is "The Self Lighting Shot Case, 1881." What do these sell for?—C.D.

ANSWER: Shot cases like yours are usually priced between $300-$400.

QUESTION: We recently acquired a beautiful signed Delft picture that measures approximately 12x20 inches, excluding a flat 4-inch-wide frame.

The scene is of course a landscape, showing a woman crossing a small bridge with much snow, a house and trees in the background. Written in script is what we believe to be the signature of the artist, Tharr Ceickert. This name appears in the lower right-hand corner.

This beautiful picture is a family heirloom, brought to this country by my grandfather. It seems perfect in every way. Can you tell us what such a large picture or plaque might possibly be worth?—Mrs. R.O.

ANSWER: Around $350.

Vitamin diet firm accused of false claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) accused a vitamin diet operation today of deceiving the public with false claims of weight loss.

Named in a formal complaint were Vitamin Education Institute, Certified Research Corp., Natural Vitamin Research Council and Marketing Group One, all of North Hollywood, Calif.

The FTC said operators of the program had advertised across the country that they had developed a "megavitamin" diet that "will allow you to eat steaks, chicken, hamburgers (including the bun), plus delicious desserts" and still lose weight.

Anti-insurgent experiment results are unspectacular

Editor's note: Robert Kaylor, UPI's chief correspondent for Southeast Asia, recently visited an area of northeast Thailand where the government began an experiment two years ago—making a cluster of villages a testing ground against Communist guerrillas.

By ROBERT KAYLOR

NA KAE, Thailand (UPI) — Two years ago, money and manpower were poured into Na Kae District with the blessing of American advisers to make it a model testing ground against Communist-led insurgents. The results have been less than spectacular.

Following the infusion of regular army troops and the start of crash development programs, only a third of the district's villages were listed one year ago as safe for government officials to enter at will.

The rest were considered "red" or "pink" in varying shades. About 5 per cent of the total population of 78,000 persons was considered to be full or part-time Communist guerrillas.

Today the statistics remain about the same.

Security has improved in the immediate area surrounding the fortified district town, which is mostly a dusty collection of wooden structures with tin roofs. Nevertheless, guerrillas were able to stage an attack on the district chief's house a few months ago.

In the countryside, a road-building project into the guerrilla heartland of the rugged Phu Phan mountains remains stalled at almost the same point it was 12 months ago.

Na Kae is a backwoods political subdivision in Thailand's impoverished northeast, almost 400 miles from the capital of Bangkok. Although there may be as many as 8,000 full time insurgents throughout the country, the approximately 3,000 in the northeast are considered the most dangerous.

Controlled by the underground Communist party of Thailand, their numbers have been growing between 10 and 20 per cent each year. The guerrillas cross the Mekong River for training in China and North Vietnam and receive policy directives from a clandestine radio station in southern China.

For the last 12 years U.S. officials have been involved in counter-insurgency in Thailand, frequently with the same "take charge" attitude that characterized their role in Indochina. Now the United States is starting to withdraw. It is beginning to look at the Thai insurgency as more of a Thai problem.

U.S. Ambassador William R. Kintner, a former army officer and college professor who was an academic associate of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger before coming to Thailand last fall, has put himself on record that "We do not want the U.S. position to be as it was in the past."

"I believe the Thais can meet their own problems in their own way, which in many cases is not the same as ours," Kintner said.

The United States still has a military interest in Thailand because of its air bases, one of them less than an hour's drive from Na Kae. It has pulled resident military advisers out of the northeast, but aid in terms of military equipment will continue.

Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) operatives also remain active in the region, but have lowered their profile following a recent public outcry about their activities.

In Na Kae, according to counter-insurgency sources, it was largely at the suggestion of American officials that the Thai government adopted an "oil spot" strategy with heavy military emphasis to regain control of villages.

Various reasons are given why the plan has not worked, among them the fact the government had to import Thai militiamen from outside the villages in which they were placed. They often didn't get along with the villagers.

Officials in Na Kae said a lack of supervision in villages declared secure as the "oil spot" spread into adjourning areas allowed guerrillas to return and continue propaganda work. In some cases villagers resented roughshod treatment during army clearing operations.

But at the same time, neighboring districts which did not enjoy priority status have tried some new ideas with a fair degree of success. Money was collected locally so villagers could arm themselves. Coincidentally, they also did not get as much attention from U.S. officials.

In That Ihnom, which lies next to Na Kae on the banks of the Nekong River, district chief Snitwong Utetarn, 36, says that although he still has some "red" areas he has not needed army troops since late last year.

"In this district we do things differently," Snitwong said. "You cannot eliminate the CT (Communist Terrorists) by killing them. Their supporters will run away to the jungle out of fear and you will get seven terrorists for each one you kill.

"The rank-and-file change all the time, but the hard core never change. So you try to create government credibility and eventually isolate the bosses by removing their support. Sometimes, it works."

Your Brithday July 28

This year has some wonderful suprises in store for you. Luck is going to take an active role to help get things started.

For Monday, July 29

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sure persons you assist are deserving of your help and not just taking advantage of your generous nature.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You tend to be somewhat careless with the possessions of others. If you borrow something, be sure to return it in good condition.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It will bore your listeners if you boast about one you think is a big wheel whom you know only casually, but pretend to know better.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It won't be as easy as you think to find willing hands to do a chore for you that YOU should be doing, but seek to pawn off on another.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be the one to reach for the tab today while your companions sit on their closed purses.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you're doing any decorating in your home plan your changes carefully. Otherwise, you may saddle yourself with a motif that won't wear well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something that should be taken care of today will be brushed aside till later. Eventually it's going to foul-up your entire schedule.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though material conditions are improving, this is not a time to be wasteful. The stores will still have merchandise next week.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Allow yourself ample time to think through all your important moves. Poor judgment and impulsiveness are your biggest threats at present.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Loose talk on your part is liable to let the cat out of the bag regarding something that's supposed to be kept confidential.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be on guard or some sort of financial loss will be suffered through a friend or group you're involved with.

PISCES (Feb. 20 March 20) You're apt to be somewhat slack today where self-discipline is concerned. Much momentum will be lost if you continue this attitude.

Your Birthday July 29

Expect an increase in your social interests and activities this year. A word of warning, however: Do be wary of entering business deals with strangers.

Would the aquarium benefit from rock?

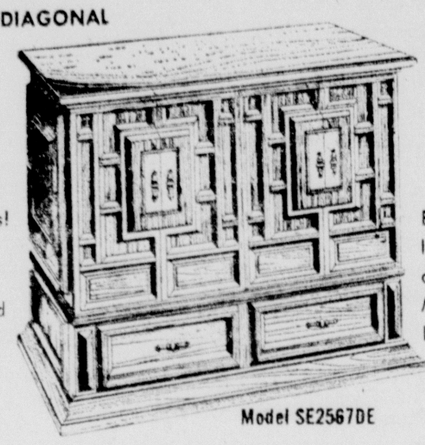

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: My husband's gotten hold of a huge piece of petrified wood which he claims is perfectly safe to put into our 40-gallon aquarium. He thinks it'll look great in there, but I don't see any use in disturbing the aquarium. It looks good and the fish are happy as it is. So am I. What would your recommendation be? — H.K.

Dear H.K.: The first point to establish is whether the rock is safe for aquarium use. Point two, then, would be: Would the tank be better, more beautiful, more useful with the rock in it? That would have to be your decision, but since the aquarium is already well-established, the size of the rock, regardless of its apearance, would have a considerable bearing on whether or not its use is justifiepd. Unless you're catering particularly to a rock fish, adding a 20-gallon boulder to a 40-gallon tank would hardly be justified. Consider that for every ornament you add to a tank, an equal amount of water is displaced, and the fish are deprived of that much swimming room.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Pipsqueak has just had her first litter and what we can't agree on is whether or not it's good for her puppies to cry. There certainly can't be anything wrong with that, can there? — H.C.

Dear H.C.: Very young puppies do not indulge in idle conversation or chit-chat. When they cry, it's because they have a problem. It may indicate minor discomfort or an impending major crisis regarding the puppies' survival. The healthy, happy puppy has little reason to cry.

A look at Tokyo life

By MARIANNA OHE

TOKYO (UPI) — Life in Tokyo basically is life indoors. The teeming Japanese metropolis is a city of subway stations and train platforms and narrow gritty one or two story buildings which somehow are able to give the impression of being about to tip over — even though they are made of concrete.

The cherry blossoms seem more a joke than anything else. Last winter Shinjuku Park was completely yellow. The Korean grass, turned hay-color, made a yellow carpet of the ground. The sulphurous yellow-grey winter skies made a kind of yellow dome above. Dead fish floated in the brown water of the ponds. One had the feeling that the park, with all its magnificent landscaping and gracefully arching bridges and plum trees, might just as well have been made of plastic.

In summer the grass turns green and leaves hide the yellow sky. But although young men and women stroll through the parks holding hands and sit on the grassy banks kissing, and beer gardens strung with lanterns have begun to open up on the roofs of the taller buildings, the most universal place of refuge is indoors—coffee shops during the day and drinking places at night.

The traditional bar with hostesses, although still popular with businessmen, is giving way to the tiny, brightly lighted drinking spots where young men and women sit at clean unfinished-wood counters and order beer and "drinking food," pickled vegetables and dried fish.

The places are friendly and personal, many of them holding no more than eight people. Customers usually frequent the same place again and again, and adopt one or two such places as "their spot."

A fairly new addition to the nighttime scene is young unmarried working girls out drinking together. Usually their June bonuses give them an especially good occasion for celebrating, but this year inflation has taken the edge off the festive spirit with people more hesitant about spending. Department store sales, which usually jump sharply, have stayed about the same so far this year, according to preliminary estimates.

Blue jeans are more omnipresent in Tokyo than even in New York or Washington, D.C. They inundate the subways and crowded streets and universities.

Summer midi skirts, especially blue jean skirts cut on the bias are everywhere. The tiny, delicately built Japanese girls seem to almost drown in the great swaths of material, with only a brief slice of calf and hulking platform shoes sticking out below.

But there are still a good supply of mini-and above-the knee skirts to be seen. T-shirts with Snoopy or football numbers splashed on them are also very popular.

Young Japanese men don't seem to be as successful in their attempts at western fashion. Their pale pink sweater vests and short-sleeved bleached cotton safari jackets over long sleeved shirts seem too orderly and prettified, almost namby-pamby. They certainly don't have the rough, grungy look of jean fashions in America.

Elec-Trac sells

DETROIT (UPI) — Wheel Horse Products, Inc., a subsidiary of American Motors, has agreed in principle to buy the Elec-Trac battery powered lawn and garden tractors and riding mower business at Schenectady, N.Y., from General Electric. The price was not given. Wheel Horse, which makes gasoline powered mowers and garden tractors, will continue to operate the Elec-Trac business at Schenectady.

AWAITING TREATMENT

Victims wait on stretchers in the emergency shelter up in the San Dimas City Hall for a disaster exercise on Saturday coordinated by the Red Cross. Those with simulated injuries were treated according to their needs by Red Cross volunteers and various emergency workers.

Volunteers work to ease pain of 'disaster victims'

Victims wrapped in bandages and lying on stretchers moaned as medical volunteers worked to ease the pain of the injured in a mock disaster exercise in which nearly 300 persons participated Saturday morning in San Dimas.

The simulated disaster, coordinated by the Pomona Chapter of the American Red Cross, was a train wreck and subsequent fire which also involved the escape of dangerous chemical fumes in a populated part of town. The problem of the rescue workers involved the evacuation of a large area of the town plus the treatment of 20 seriously injured victims.

The disaster further included the establishing of a shelter in the San Dimas City Hall which is capable of accommodating approximately 200 persons for three to five days.

The victims, made up to depict various serious injuries, were first examined by a team of county paramedics and given first aid by Red Cross volunteers. Seriously injured were then transported by ambulance and station wagons to San Dimas Community Hospital where a team of hospital workers further treated them.

When the mock disaster started at 7:30 a.m., the Los Angeles County Fire Department personnel were first to the scene and responsible for identifying the type of material escaping from the train and designating the proper precautions.

Members of the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department, along with reserve officers and Explorer Scouts, participated in rescue work, crowd control, etc.

Also involved in the exercise were personnel from the county health department, San Dimas city and chamber of commerce officials, the Claremont Red Cross chapter, citizen band radio operators, First Aid volunteers, ambulance crews, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and many other volunteers from the community who served as victims or evacuees.

The Saturday exercise was one of a number of mock disasters being staged in the Southland to train county and volunteer agencies in civil defense programs.

An evaluation of the project was conducted at the conclusion of the morning program by involved groups at San Dimas Community Hospital.

OFF TO HOSPITAL

More serious victims in Saturday's disaster exercise were transported on stretchers from the emergency center at San Dimas City Hall to San Dimas Hospital by ambulance.

FIRST AID

Betty Hodges of Claremont, an R. N. volunteer treats Jill Montz of La Verne whose "injury" in Saturday's mock disaster in San Dimas consisted of second and third degree burns on her arms and [illegible]. Jill was one of many victims suffering from a variety of injuries during the exercise.

Youth talent shows seek permission to perform

The Pomona City Council Monday night will consider requests from the Sharkie Park Committee for permission to hold five talent shows and sell corn-on-the-cob and lemonade at the park on Sundays.

Vice Carpio, committee cochairman, said funds raised during the sales in August and September would be used for community projects.

The talent shows for youths are proposed to be held Aug. 4, Sept. 1 and 2, Sept. 15 and 16.

During the council's 8 p.m. meeting, the oath of office will be administered to appointees Mrs. Peggy LeVan to the Cultural Arts Commission, Richard Speier and William Jay to the Parks and Recreation Commission, and Mrs. Eddimarie Patterson to the Library Board of Trustees.

A proclamation will be issued designating August as the month for the celebration of National Navy Mothers Day.

Up for a second reading are five city ordinances providing salary increases for council-appointed officers, sworn uniform firemen, and part-time hourly miscellaneous employes; establishing a two-hour parking limit on Pasadena Street between Eleanor Street and Towne Avenue; and regulating time for the disposal of goods by pawnbrokers and second hand dealers.

Back for formal approval is a 3-2 council decision last week upholding a Planning Commission resolution granting a variance to reduce certain development standards for a senior citizens complex proposed by Urbatec at 200 W. Drake St.

Also back for formal approval is the council's unanimous decision of last week upholding that commission's denial of a conditional use permit to allow a dance hall at 1475 W. Mission Blvd.

The council will discuss budget and expenditure procedures and possible reorganization of the Cultural Arts Commission.

There will be a report on the award of contracts and funding for a restroom facility at North San Antonio Park and a recommendation to proceed with the annexation of Casa de Vida Convalescent Hospital property at 219 E. Foothill Blvd.

There will be another recommendation to the council for the preparation of final plans, specifications and estimates for the city's seventh fire station.

Summer queen contest to highlight festivities

The contestants, representing the three cities which comprise the barrio, are Darlene Castro, Rita Boice, Laruie Reynoso, and Alma Ramos of Claremont; Karen Gomez and Josie Razo of Montclair; and Suzanne Rojas of Upland.

Each queen hopeful is selling tickets to help raise money for a newly created scholarship fund. The winner will be determined by the most tickets sold.

The summer event is co-sponsored by El Barrio Scholarship Fund and Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church. Food, mariachi music, and free Mexican entertainment are scheduled for the fiesta beginning at noon and winding up about 8 p.m.

The coronation ball will be held Friday, Aug. 16 at 8 p.m.

Persons seeking more information about the Mexican Jamaica or wishing to donate to the new fund may contact Msgr. William Barry at 626-3596, Alfonso Villanueva at 982-6950, or Ronald Reynoso at 624-3708.

MORAL DILEMMA?

If you enjoy luxury, but feel a little guilty about it, a Pomona motorist appears to have found a perfect solution: drive a Rolls Royce while disclaiming ownership.

Pupil attendance scheduled topic of public hearing

Trustees of the Chaffey Union High School District will conduct a public hearing on Aug. 5 in the board room at 7 p.m. as a requirement of the Education Code.

The purpose of the hearing is to inform the public of the estimated average daily attendance of students from other districts attending the Chaffey District, the estimated cost to the district for educating these students and the tax rate equivalent required to support such costs.

Information will also be provided regarding Chaffey District students attending other districts.

Not enough rope left him hanging

Give a man enough rope and he will hang himself, the saying goes. But Tim Stewart came up with a new twist to the old adage Friday night when he found himself dangling from a Pomona hillside because his rope was too short..

Stewart, 22, a UCLA student participating in an extension program at the Parnell School in Pomona, was rescued by Pomona firemen after becoming stranded on the side of Elephant Hill above the Pomona Police Department's rifle range.

A mountain climbing buff, Stewart was attempting to climb down the rocky cliff above Mission Bouelvard when he came down 40 feet short of the bottom at the end of his rope.

Calls for help attracted a passerby, who summoned firemen.

Opinion

Uncle Sap is no Robin Hood

If you thought that this country learned anything from the Russian wheat deal, you sadly underestimate the generosity of Uncle Sap.

According to Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee and chairman of the Joint International Economics Subcommittee, at a time of shortages and worsening inflation in this country, a slew of government agencies — "like so many rogue elephants crashing through the canebrake" — are actively subsidizing the export of scarce goods and equally scarce credit.

The Commodity Credit Corp., for example, unabashed by the Russian wheat fisco of 1972, continues to lend American dollars to foreign countries so that they can buy American wheat, soybeans and other scarce commodities at discount prices.

In the fiscal year that ended on June 30, the C.C.C. issued $286 million in new credits. Even more astounding, he says, the Department of Agriculture is now preparing a big promotion campaign for the current fiscal year for $415 million in new credits.

Who are the beneficiaries of this largesse? One of them is oil-rich Iran, which last year got a C.C.C.-administered, $45-million, 15-year loan to buy U.S. wheat.

"While the Iranians gouge the Americans on oil," writes Reuss in the New York Times magazine, "the C.C.C. gouges the Americans on wheat!

"With our wheat dissipated, of course, bread prices here rise. With our credit diverted to Iran, of course, housing here languishes. With our grain reserves gone, hope of helping the starving millions of the Sahara margin and of the Indian subcontinent dwindles. And, of course, the taxpayers pay for the program."

Or take the Export-Import Bank. It recently guaranteed a $48-million, seven-to-10-year loan at 6 per cent to West Germany's Lufthansa airline to purchase wide-bodied jets. Since West Germany is choking with reserves and the mark is very sound, says the congressman, Germany should obviously have bought the planes for cash.

The Ex-Im Bank is also making cut-rate, taxpayer-subsidized loans to Japan for commercial aircraft, for nuclear power plant fuel and for cotton at a time when shortages are causing the cost of cotton goods in this country to soar.

Or take the Internal Revenue Service's Domestic International Sales Corp. (DISC), which was created back in 1971 when we were still laboring under fixed exchange rates. DISC gives a tax deferment to American companies to induce them to expand exports. But frequently these exports are scarce items like lumber, plywood or scrap, whose domestic prices again, are driven up.

Not that free trade itself is not a worthwhile goal, says Reuss. It provides more goods for lower prices, jobs for American workers and the most efficient use of world resources. But the current administration policy of indiscriminately subsidizing exports is, to put it mildly, misguided.

A final irony, he says, is that the Federal Reserve is now so worried about excessive exports that it wants to intervene in the market to raise the dollar's exchange rate.

Would it not be more sensible, he asks, to cut down on the excessive exports in the first place by curtailing the agencies that are using taxpayers' dollars to bring them about?

One might add another irony — the fact that foreign aid programs to countries that really need our help, programs that now represent the merest fraction of our Gross National Product, are always among the first things to get the ax by an "economy-minded" Congress at the behest of an outraged public.

Tracing the wind

Ever since the Wright Brothers built the first one to test airfoil shapes, the wind tunnel has been an indispensible tool of the aircraft designer. Now architects and construction engineers are putting entire buildings in wind tunnels—in miniature, of course.

As buildings reach greater heights, they deflect downward the faster winds encountered loft. In some cases—most notably one involving a skyscraper in Boston—the high winds have torn off portions of the structure's facade and broken windows. In high winds, ground-level doors may be difficult to open and wind paths are created around corners and along sidewalks that are uncomfortable or dangerous to pedestrians.

The wind effects on a 40-story office tower and pedestrian plaza planned for downtown Seattle were recently determined by Calspan Corp. engineers in a specialized wind tunnel simulating the earth's turbulent atmosphere.

An area of downtown Seattle about one-half mile in diameter was reproduced on an 88-inch-diameter turntable. Models of existing city structures surrounded the 16-inch-high tower in its center. By rotating the turntable, the model city was subject to wind flow from 36 directions, from less than one mile an hour to more than 60 miles an hour.

By tracing the wind paths created and by making modifications on the model, the engineers were able to show architects how to improve their design.

Lobbyists ghost Senate speeches

WASHINGTON — A high-powered, high-pressure consortium of big businesses has secretly provided 40 speeches to senators for use in the forthcoming filibuster against the Consumer Protection Act.

To hide the identity of anti-consumer congressmen, the business lobby has used mysterious code letters. It has also instructed its lobbyists to read "Around the World in 80 Days" to inspire them to lobby harder against the bill.

These tactics emerge from a fat sheaf of confidential minutes, battle plans and head counts, which have been slipped to us from the files of opponents of the consumer bill.

The bill would establish a small, independent, nonregulatory agency to represent the consumers before federal agencies and courts. The proposed institution would employ 250 consumer advocates who would guard against shoddy goods and services.

For instance, the Consumer Protection Agency might have stepped in to prevent President Nixon from tossing $500 million a year to milk producers after they had promised $2 million in campaign funds. Or, it could have blocked the Soviet wheat deal, which gave grain brokers the bread and left consumers with the crust.

The new agency would have had the power at least to force hearings on these issues. This power to intervene in behalf of the consumers has got big business worried. They were unable to bring enough backstage pressure to block the bill in the House. Now they hope to talk it to death in the Senate by fomenting a filibuster, which Senators Sam Ervin, D-N.C., and James Allen, D-Ala., have agreed to lead.

Secret minutes reveal that on June 12 an awesome array of industry nabobs gathered in Washington's luxurious Aviation Club to map their strategy. Called the Ad Hoc Consumer Issues Working Group, the members represented Armour, Bethlehem Steel, Exxon, Firestone, Georgia Pacific, Maytag, Shell and Sun Oil, United Airlines, the Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers.

"A prominent representative was Bryce Harlow of Proctor and Gamble, just recently retired from the White House staff," report the minutes proudly. Presiding over the secret strategy session was frank-spoken Emmitt Hines, government relations chief for Armstrong Cork, who quickly called the businessmen to order.

"The request for speeches to be supplied to Senators Ervin and Allen to help the filibuster effort is still out," the minutes announce. "So far they have about forty speeches but will be glad to get more." An Ervin spokesman said that it was a staff member who had solicited the filibuster material. Allen insisted neither he nor his staff had "made any request for speeches."

The minutes also reveal astonishingly that two Senate staff members joined the nest of lobbyists for the secret plotting. They were skillful counsel Bob Smith and minority staffman Lyle Ryter from the Senate Government Operations Committee.

According to the minutes, both pitched in avidly against the consumer. Smith is quoted as urging the lobbyists to "get at the senators at home." Ryter "made an impassioned speech opposing the legislation (as) the first step toward requiring national licensing of corporations." The minutes also quote him as warning solemnly that the consumer bill "could be the roller coaster to nationalization of industry." Both Senate staff men disputed the quotes that were attributed to them.

The blue-ribbon session broke up after naming Greyhound Vice President Carl Fleps as "chief intelligence officer" to determine "who needs working on in the Senate," as the minutes put it. Both Fleps and Hines assured us that Fleps is merely trying to find out how senators will vote. He is not engaging in the sort of undercover operations that characterized the Nixon White House, they said.

The ad hoc group took over in the Senate what an earlier lobbying group, known mysteriously as "RW80D," had tried to accomplish last session in the House. The code name was given to it by the Grocery Manufacturers Association's tub-thumping President George Koch.

An aide interrupted one of his pep talks to say it "was impossible" to defeat the consumer bill in the House. According to a source who was present, Koch retorted that all his aides should read Jules Verne's "Around the World in 80 Days" for inspiration.

Not only did they read the book, but they adopted its title and abbreviated it to "RW80D" as their code name. The memos they produced, however, are considerably spicier than Jules Verne.

One confidential memo asks fellow lobbyists "how do we overcome (the) fear and embarrassment" of Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., who was then fighting the bill. Of House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., the memo says he is even "more afraid of a floor fight" than is Holified.

The memo even asks "how do we get Bella" Abzug, the bouncy New York Democrat. A more assertive section suggests using Mellon banker John Mayer to pressure congressmen in California, Maryland and other states.

Friendly congressmen are referred to by letters to shield their identities in case of such leaks as have now occurred. But we have been able to discover that the "C," who is mentioned 18 times in one memo in a patsy role, is in reality Rep. Dan Fuqua, D-Fla.

According to the memos, whose authenticity has been verified by two inside sources, Fuqua was persuaded to lobby or write letters to the White House, a half-dozen government agencies and House colleagues in behalf of the anti-consumer lobby.

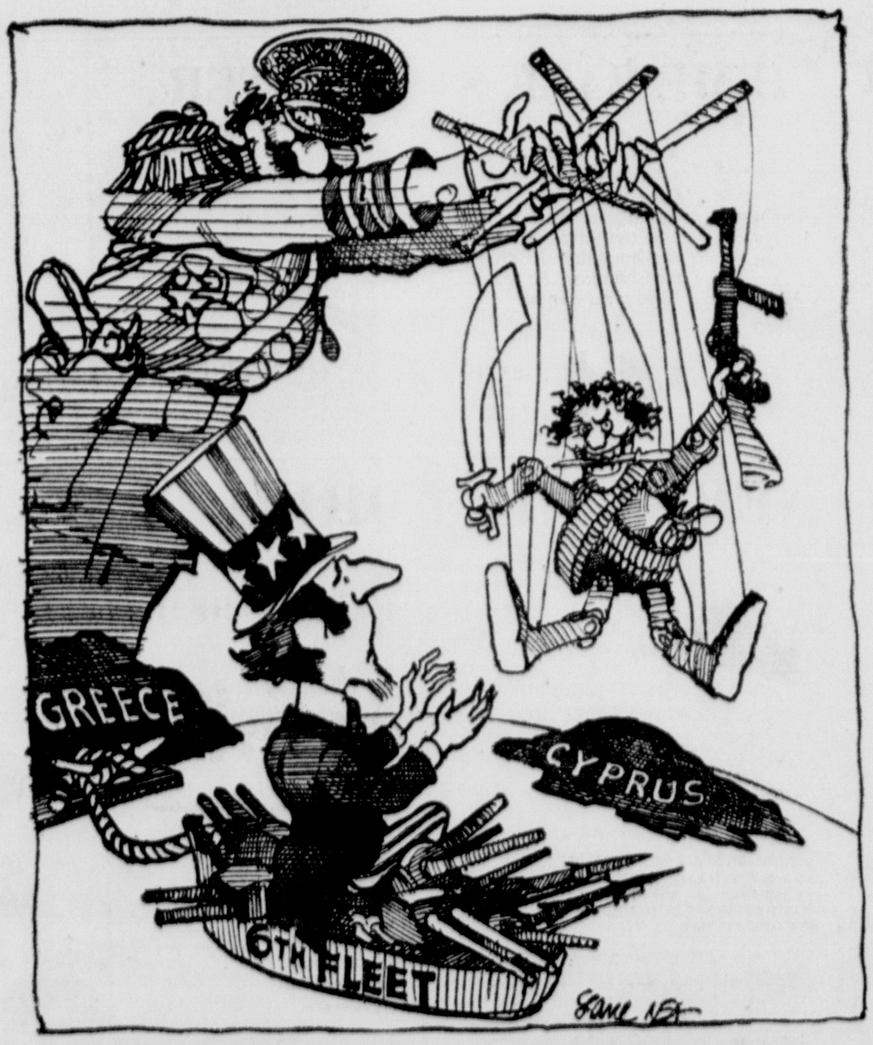

One memo describes officiously how the lobbyists will "walk him thru the agency letters chart" and "see that 'C' (Fuqua) is primed with all quotes." The memos say the lobbyists even wrote letters for him.

We verified that Fuqua actually wrote several letters but that, in the end, he voted for a strong consumer bill. He was stunned over the use of his name. "They were certainly not calling the shots," he told us. He got nothing from the Grocery Manufacturers, he said, except a $1,000 speech honorarium.

The Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, has been fighting the bill in space-age style with a computer that can order up letters to senators from local businessmen throughout the U.S.

Footnote: A few business firms have sided with the consumers. Among them are Amfac, Hechingers, Kimberly-Clark, Montgomery Ward, Motorola and Zenith.

Just in jest

Let's take a little time out today to consider some of the more interesting facets of the American way of life.

Even though someone once said charity should begin at home, it really never does. Americans are funny that way! We'll big-heartedly send millions of dollars worth of foodstuff to help feed the starving in underprivileged nations—But, clever business people that we are, we'll dump 32,000 gallons of fresh skim milk into the L.A. sewer system because no one will buy it at the asking price and it allegedly costs too much to give it away.

And never let it be said that Americans will ever be allowed to think small. Even though we may try it we'll get shouted down in no uncertain fashion.—A federal judge has ruled that the Northern California city of Petaluma can't prevent a threatened urban sprawl by passing an ordinance which would limit the city's rate of growth and keep the population below 55,000. Such legislation is unconstitutional according to that judge.

We bend over backwards to avoid discrimination. A Federal judge in Florida has ruled that public school children cannot have a holiday on Good Friday because it discriminates against students of non-Christian faith.—And if Christmas didn't come during school vacation time, he'd probably rule that holiday out too.

Finally we have proven conclusively that, contrary to a popular upperclass American conception, it is not necessary for young folks to go to college in order to become a success in life—When a new scheduled pay raise goes into effect, San Francisco street cleaners will be getting $17,059 a year.

OUR MAN IN WASHINGTON

Federal spendthrifts should be restrained

By RICK GOTCHER
P-B Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — We are told by the country's foremost economic experts that stern measures are in order to steady the financial situation.

The public is blamed by the chairman of the economic Advistory Council for failing to demand tax increases during the past few years to eat up the excess dollars produced by a fiscally-indulgent Treasury.

President Nixon urges a tightening of belts and stiff upper lips, but comes up woefully lacking in substantive proposals.

Congress passes a budget reform bill that strangely enough looks like and admission of guilt for years of failing to legislate economy. So far, working on the 1975 budget, Congress has managed to add an estimated $1.3 billion, plus a number of backdoor spending measurers that could increase the deficit substantially.

As yet, our elected and appointed officials have not come to grips with a solution to control double-digit inflation that eats at this country's economic fiber like a rabid piranha fish.

The administration denies a recession is at hand. Even faced with two successive quarters of a receding Gross National Product—historically used as an indicator of recession—White House officials want more proof. They say another declining quarter is needed to prove recession.

Secretary of Commerce Frederick B. Dent says the falling GNP is an "energy-crisis spasm." Officials at the Federal Energy Administration predict prices for fuel will not come down—leading to the thought that Dent's "spasm" may be more terminal than spasmodic.

Rember? It wasn't so very long ago that families with $15,000 annual income were well off. But not now. Figures show more bankruptcies are being filed as people find themselves unable to cope with rising costs.

Economist Paul McCracken says the country has lost its economic discipline. Government and individuals are spending beyond the nation's production capacity. Banks have over-extended themselve on loans and loan commitmentts. And the binge has resulted in the present record rate of inflation.

During the first three years of the Nixon Administration, McCracken urged fiscal austerity; reduction of the growth of the money supply; acceptance of a higher rate of unemployment; and a steady hand to guide economic policies.

In retrospect, McCracken's ideas probably would have saved us the agonies we now experience, if they had been instituted. But his plans fail to bring inflation and its discomforts into perpective on an individual level.

It seems it is time for those in authority to develop plans that relieve pressure on the taxpayer. Too long, the individual has been forfeited for the benefit of a scheme or policy designed to bolster a government commitment.

Officials talk about increasing unemployment percentages as a way to control inflation. But for every one per cent of unemployment, 900,000 worker are without jobs.

Tax increases would cut inflation. But they actually only expose government's drain on our resources, since government is the biggest cause in inflation and is covertly responsible for cost-of-living increases.

There is no easy way out. But there could be. Taxpayers could hire a special enforcement agency to arrest and convict federal spendthrifts. The cost would be cheap at twice the price.

Jumpers, stunt flying scheduled at benefit

An air show featuring stunt flying and parachutists will be held Aug. 25 at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

The program is being sponsored by the United States Parachute Association and proceeds from the all-day family event will be donated to the Muscular Dystrophy Association during the Jerry Lewis Telethon during the Labor Day weekend.

The show will highlight 32 parachutists who will attempt to form a 30-man "star" where the jumpers clasp hands in mid-air for at least five seconds before separating to deploy their canopies.

Should they be successful, this would break the current 29-man record now held in Florida. The local jumpers will have three chances during the day to accomplish this feat.

Also featured will be Carolyn Salisbury, a woman stunt pilot; para-plane demonstrations; the Sky Scrapers, a group of professional parachutists; and the release of 50,000 helium-filled balloons.

Other events include a hot air balloon demonstration where a man in a strait jacket hangs from the balloon's basket by a fuel soaked rope which is set on fire. He has two minutes to escape from the jacket and climb into the basket.

On display will be helicopters and antique planes and cars.

Gates will open at 8 a.m. with the program starting at 11 a.m. with parachutists jumping from planes with the American flag. The show will end at 9 p.m. with a fireworks display.

Senate approves consumer programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has approved a bill to provide $13.5 billion to finance agriculture, environment and consumer protection programs this fiscal year.

The measure was passed 71 to 16 Monday, after an attempt to weaken a controversial provision to obtain private business data from the nation's top 500 corporations was killed by a vote of 51 to 36.

"Is Your Allowance Big Enough?"

MARY ALICE LEHMAN

MARKO RADLOVIC

HAL HARGRAVE

CHRISTINE REDSTONE

MICHELLE MARIE DEL CARMEN

KIM GATES

Probably most kids would give anything to have an allowance. But really it isn't great. Why? Because lets say you did something wrong. Your parents say, "That's 15c off your allowance!" Then POW! Saturday rolls around and I'm ready for 75c and what do I get, 35c!

Mary Alice Lehman
Age 10
Claremont

I don't have a regular weekly allowance like most of my friends have. I think it's up to their parents about their allowances. Like on every Saturday I see my friends working around the house. They pick weeds, mow their lawn, and trim here and there all morning. If their parents want it like that let them have it like that. In my family I think its fair. When there needs to be some work around the house I do it but I don't get paid for it. But whenever I need money like to go to the movies or buy something I get money for it. I think its fair because a regular allowance you spend the money right away and no money being saved up. Our family's I think is the best way.

Marko Radlovic
Age 10
Claremont

No! I only get a dollar a week for 20 chores a week. I sweep the pool 4 times week. I feed the dogs 2 times a week. I feed the cats 2 times a week. I take out trash 4 times a week. I clear off the table 7 times a week. I mow the lawn and clean up my room.

Hal Hargrave
Age 10
La Verne

I think I should get more money because I get 50c every Sunday and the girl next door gets a dollar. One of my 11 year old brothers gets 75c every Sunday. It's the same with my sister because she's older than I. I have to share a room with my sister Laura and my brother get there own room. If I had my own room I might get more allowance. I clean the bathroom sometimes and I dust sometimes and clean up my room sometimes.

Christine Redstone
Age 10
Claremont

No, I don't think my allowance is big enough, because I hardly get any allowance. Some times I get my allowance by pulling my own teeth by myself, or my mom and dad give me my allowance on my birthday, but that doesn't happen very often. And that's why I say no.

Michelle Marie Del Carmen
Claremont

Yes, In fact too big! All I do is strip the beds on Monday, make my bed before school, feed our dog and cats, and set the table for dinner. For that I get a dollar a week, plus a quarter when we go to the swap meet on Sundays. I really should get $50 a week or maybe 25c a week.

inspiracion para todos aquellos que estan fijando su mira en un manana prospero y perfecto. "Rising Voices" ayuda a provar que la herencia hispanica no es ningun obstaculo para el talento y la determinacion.

Atkinson, quen ayudo al autor del libro, Al Martinez, dijo que el dinero que se haga de su publicacion sera usado para la compra de nuevas ediciones.

En el prefacion el Dr. Julian Nava, reconocido educador californiano, dijo, "como el mundo se hace pequeno, asi nosotros dependemos en recursos y mercados economicos, asi el mundo resulta mas contaminado y mas peligroso, nosotros estamos reexaminanado diferencias culturales".

"Hispano-americanos siempre han estado ahi, y muchos de ellos han vivido dentro de nuestras fronteras antes de que nos convirtieramos en una nacion en 1776. Hispano-americanos al sur e hispano-americanos viviendo entre nosotros ahora son reconocidos por lo que ellos siempre fueron—un gran recurso humano y cultural."

Canadians in Yukon

Teddy Buckner

Jazz great plays at Disneyland

Trumpeter-bandleader Teddy Buckner, who has been playing Dixieland jazz for almost half a century, performs nightly through the summer in New Orleans Square at Disneyland.

During a career that began in 1929, Buckner has worked with some of the world's finest musicians including Benny Carter, Lionel Hampton, Sonny Clay, Clarence Mosbly's Blue Blowers, Buck Clayton and his favorite—Louis Armstrong.

He still hews colsely to the spirit and style of his idol, Armstrong. He even changed from trumpet to cornet in 1958 to capture the complete early Armstrong feeling and sound, not in an attempt to imitate but to convey the influence.

In 1954, Buckner formed his own band and today leads what is considered by many as one of the best traditional Dixieland groups in Southern California.

MUSIC IN THE AIR—Some 90 talented music students from all over the United States are currently taking part in the sixth annual Claremont Music Festival at Pomona College, studying and performing with distinguished faculty artists. Typical of the informal rehearsals is this one in which Malcolm McNab is conducting a brass and percussion ensemble. The Festival will present concerts in Bridges Hall at 4 p.m. today and at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday. Free concerts will be offered in Thatcher Music Building at 8:15 p.m. Monday and Friday. The final program will be in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Saturday.

Chamber music ensembles scheduled at Scripps

CLAREMONT — Two noted chamber music ensembles will take part in the Bessie Bartlett Frankel Festival of Chamber Music at Scripps College in 1974-75.

On Nov. 8 the Quartetto Esterhazy, composed of violinists Jaap Schroder and Alda Stuurop, violinist Wiel Moller, will perform. The four Amsterdam musicians formed the Quartetto Esterhazy to restore an authentic string quartet style using instruments as they were played in Haydn's and Mozart's time.

On March 2 the Composers String Quartet — violinists Matthew Raimondi and Anahid Ajemian, violinist Harry Rudiakov—will play. Recognized for their performances of contemporary music, this quartet has toured exetensively in the Soviet Union, throughout Armenia, Azerbejan and Bulgaria and in Western Europe, as well as in the United States. They have also recorded extensively.

Both concerts are open to the public free of charge.

Dog bite accidents increasing

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Man's best friend, a dog, isn't always a child's. Especially dangerous are stray dogs which roam all over town.

Public health officials are concerned about such dogs biting children. Dog bite accidents are increasing.

Most bites are by dogs allowed to roam unsupervised. A majority of the victims are under 15 years of age. Boys, ages five to nine, are the most frequent victims.

Only a small percentage of the bite wounds are regarded as medically serious. But this kind of accident is very frightening. Psychologically, they damage.

Accident fighters studying the dog bite problem trace part of the cause to the popularity also of large breeds and to the acquisition of dogs for protection from crime, especially in inner city areas.

The latter often are poorly trained or attack dogs.

"They are sold by fast buck operators who are capitalizing on people's fears of burglarly or attack," said Patricia O'Keefe, who reported on the problem. She is an official at the Pet Food Institute (PFI).

The authority on dogs said also that the sellers fail to tell the unsuspecting prospective owner that a dog with a hairtrigger disposition can be more dangerous than a burglar.

A study of the dog bite problem was done by urbanologist Alan Beck of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo. It brought to light several facts of interest to dog owners and parents of small children — including the fact that young boys most often are the victims.

Beck's colleague, Dr. Michael Fox, a veterinarian who also is a psychologist, is delving into the reasons a dog might attack.

Fox's work points to the obvious instinctive reasons a dog becomes aggressive: to protect territory or out of fear.

He also found that a dog may suddenly interpret as threatening a gesture, a tone of voice or even —unusual clothing.

Beck's studies show that many incidents are provoked by the victim or occur in play.

For safety's sake, all children should know how to approach dogs and how to behave when a dog acts aggressive. The Pet Food Institute suggests the following rules:

A strange dog that is not leashed should be avoided. Stay out of yards and buildings where a dog is loose.

Don't tease a dog that is fenced or tied. A large, angry dog can exert several hundred pounds of pressure to break a leash, and may be able to scale a fence as well.

Always ask permission to pet someone else's dog. Before touching, speak softly and hold the back of your hand below the dog's muzzle.

Never wave a stick, tennis racket or any object a dog might perceive as a weapon. Never stoop down and put your face close to his.

If you're threatened by a strange dog, do not yell or run. Stand still with arms at your sides while you speak softly to the dog. Direct eye contact between animals is a challenge. So avoid staring straight into his eyes. Try to appear calm and unafraid.

If the dog does lunge, protect your face with crossed arms. If you are knocked to the ground, roll on your stomach.

Any biting incident should be reported immediately to a doctor and to the health or police department. In many communities, a dog or a cat that bites must be put under observation to make sure it is not rabid. An immediate attempt should be made to find the dog and his owner.

If you're a dog owner, the Pet Food Institute has some further suggestions for dog bite prevention:

Under no circumstances, should a family keep a guard or attack dog. A dog that simply barks is good, safe protection from intruders.

Don't tolerate snapping or other aggressive behavior. If your dog shows signs of being shy or a bully, see that he gets special obedience training.

A puppy should not be encouraged to use his teeth playfully. Games like tug-of-war or nibbling hands and feet should be avoided.

Teasing a puppy can make him fearful. A pup that learns to growl or nip in fun will continue to do it when he's grown. Then, it's too late to explain he's a big boy and must stop.

When playing, don't chase a dog into a corner. A cornered animal is always fearful and instinctively tries to protect himself.

When training a puppy, an adult should take care of the discipline. It's wrong for anyone to spank a young pup and children should not be allowed to punish him.

Have your pet spayed or neutered. You won't be plagued by packs of excited dogs when a female is in heat, and a male will be less aggressive.

SWISHING CAPES AND FULL SKIRTS NEW FOR WINTER

A whirl of capes and flaring midi skirts of fuzzy mohair opened the collection of Parisian designer Emanuel Ungaro who showed this camel wool coat over a brown and beige ensemble with stripe pattern top, left. Supple and free line, very wide skirts that swish almost to the ankle, looking even bulkier with the addition of long, fringed scarves at Lanvin high fashion house by designer Jules-Francois Crehey for winter collection. Note also the mohair jacket-cape.

Winter collection of fashions features '54 highlights

By ALINE MOSBY

TODAY'S Women

PARIS (UPI) — Only designer Andre Courreges would think of livening up the Paris high fashion collections last week with a gag gown of strands of curly telephone cord.

To illustrate the frustration of the rickety Paris telephone system, Courreges put on skits starring a switchboard operator wearing a gray chiffon gown with streamers of telephone cord. One mannequin who could not get a pay telephone to work wore a black gown clasped at the neck with telephone cord.

The bride who closed the show lived on the moon so she wore a metal cone-shaped gown while she knitted little things for baby. The bridegroom was a U.S. astronaut complete in helmet, and trailed by four other girls also knitting little things.

"They're gag dresses but intended to be worn," said Courreges with a straight face after the show.

When the winter collection got down to business, the audience of international fashion press discovered Courreges added a bundle of bright ideas to his classic line.

The little white Courreges dress is still there, but it has soft tucks and the famous Courreges trousers which also started the pants fashion now are shorter, just above the ankle, and cuffed. He threw in some below knee skirts to follow the new long skirt fashion but most hemlines remained right where Courreges put them in his revolutionary show of 1964, just above the knee.

As usual Courreges showed as much flesh as the Folies Bergeres with a long gown caught on top with one badly slipping strap, see-through black chiffon blouson tops and one brown crepe chiffon cut gaspingly low in back.

One strapless beauty had alternating diagonal stripes of see-through gray chiffon and black sequins.

Paris has revived the sack dress.

Hubert de Givenchy, designer for some of the world's richest women, made it official by showing the 1954 straight, unbelted chemise dress in chiffons of graduated colors. The Givenchy sacks hit a hand's width below the knee.

Yves Saint Laurent, regarded by the fashion world as the most influential designer on mass ready-to-wear, has dozens of chemise dresses in his collection to be presented Wednesday, according to advance reports.

For striped olive-and-gray coats, for soft tweed suits, for velvet dresses, over and over Givenchy used the smock pattern of gathers under a flat shoulder yoke in front and in back, a high little stand-up collar and long, very full sleeves.

Givenchy followed the trend for more fullness but none of Dior's "Big Droop", appeared in this collection. A peasant smock coat in nubby caramel-colored wool, for example, went over a narrow beige jersey dress.

Pierre Balmain's collection like Givenchy's is called elegant by women who like to look that way, and dull by those who prefer more far-out clothes.

Balmain, too, joined the wider look by showing three enormous tent midi coats with incredibly wide sleeves. Otherwise the collection featured the rich, perfect Balmain fox-trimmed suits and skinny wool dresses that were correct 20 years ago and can be worn 20 years from now.

Pierre Cardin and Hubert de Givenchy already have brought back the sack dress, so now, with the return of the 1950's, fashion's history is complete.

The difference between the sack and shift is perplexing to the untrained eye, but fashion critics explain that the beltless shift is more fitted than the baggy sack.

Define 'family' in new lifestyle

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — With changing lifestyles, how would you define "family?" A father, mother and children? Or a childless but married couple?

Joanne H. Kerbavaz, 18, of Richmond, Calif., for example, says it isn't easy to define the word. But when asked in a United Press International poll of 50 youths, she responded:

"Families no longer need to contain children, a home or both spouses. Any living group can be classified as a family."

Miss Kerbavaz was among the outstanding high school seniors in the nation named Future Family Leaders —one from each state. She is the Future Family Leader for California.

Mary F. O'Brien, 18, of Volga, Iowa responded this way:

"A family is a group of people that really care about one another. It is not necessary to live together or to have parents and children, but a family must be people who do all they can to help one another."

Other definitions from the Future Family Leaders include:

"A family is a number of people that care about each other." Kristine L. Hefta, 18, of Grand Forks, N.D.

"Family refers to two or more individuals living together and sharing responsibilities and pleasures. A childless couple is a family, and a commune of 20 adults is a family —just as much as the traditional mother, father, children." Rita Lynne Rubin, 17, of Wheeling, W.Va.

"A family is a group of persons who live together and stay together despite all circumstances, have a mutual desire to help each other and find this arrangement convenient for everyday existence." Cynthia E. Green, 17, of Atlanta, Ga.

"A family is a group of people bound together by many bonds, including actual relations and love." Eleanor G. Welsh, 17, Purcellville, Va.

"Several people, each with their own needs, wants and goals, living and sharing together. Of course, no family is ideal, but by my definition a family provides its members with the presence of the other members and induces a situation of caring from which all benefit and grow." Kathryn Jean Partridge, 18, Englewood, Colo.

"A family does not have to exist within the confines of the traditional, legal concepts of marriage and parenthood, but every family has one or two adults who accept the responsibilities of parenthood and children who receive the guidance of the parents." Harold C. Washington, 17, Decatur, Ala.

Among finalists in the competition for Future Family Leader, which was sponsored by a maker of foods, were those opting for slight variations of the traditional definition:

"A family now is what a family always has been and always will be —a unit of people, usually related, usually living together at least part of their lives, working together to satisfy their necessities and relating to each other to fulfill their wants," Wendy Rae Weaver, 17, Indianapolis, Ind.

"A married couple, with children. I don't think the definition has changed much." Michael David Greenspoon, 17, Morrison, Colo.

"For me a family is composed of two people living in a permanent commitment of love for one another, and includes the children who are a living representation of that commitment, who are to be raised in the environment of that commitment." Lawrence Alan Krissek, 18, of Kansas City, Kans.

"Family is the unit which provides anchorage in the transience of our society. It is no longer the focus of an individual's life since activities, interests and friends diverge so greatly from those of other family members. But the family remains an important functional institution." Candance Hope Haigler, 17, Matthews, N.C.

"The family is a small social unit consisting usually of husband, wife, and children, but sometimes excluding one of these members or including grandparents, other relatives, even nonrelated friends. The only real qualification for belonging to a family is a willingness to love and to try to understand its other members, to stand by them in times of stress and also in times of happiness. The family is the unit which gives the individual his strongest sense of community, and which, more than any other single institution, lends stability and security to his life." Victoria Joanne Perry, 17, Orono, Maine.

Sutherland-Keehan nuptial vows said

Frampton photo

MRS. KENNETH SUTHERLAND

In a Saturday afternoon ceremony at Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church, Claremont, Miss Deborah Dianne Keehan exchanged nuptial vows with Kenneth Robert Sutherland.

The Very Rev. Msgr. William J. Barry officiated at the double-ring service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Keehan of Claremont and the son of Charles Sutherland of Oakland and Mrs. Clifford W. DuBois of Piedmont.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a princess-style gown of sata peau fashioned with Guipure lace at the scoop neckline and on the cap sleeves. It had a full flounce at the hemline of the skirt which ended in a chapel train. Her bouffant veil of French illusion was held by a bandeau of lace.

Miss Roberta F. Keehan was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Pamela Keehan, Miss Yvonne Sutherland, Mrs. James Dodge, Miss Martha Carton, Mrs. David Praml and Mrs. Richard Rathman.

Theodore Hole was best man. Ushers were Bruce Sutherland, James Dodge, Peter DuBois, William DuBois, Roy Okamoto and David Latimer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland were feted at a reception at the Pomona Elks Lodge. They are honeymooning in Tahiti and will reside in Los Altos in late August.

Achievers will be honored

Four Progress-Bulletin Woman Achievers for 1974, selected by a panel of five male judges, will be honored at a luncheon July 31 at Orlando's, 1700 W. Holt Ave.

Stories about the contest winners, Mrs. Helen Boughton of Pomona, Mrs. Eileen Carter of Chino, Mrs. Beverly Shacklett of Claremont and Mrs. Margaret Stewart of Ontario, appeared in the Tuesday special edition, Pomona Valley Women, which was a supplement of the regular Tuesday edition of the Progress-Bulletin.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling the Women's Department of the Progress-Bulletin, 622-1201, before 3:30 p.m. Monday, July 29. Cost of the luncheon will be $3.10 and will be hosted by the Progress-Bulletin.

No furniture

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a trend to the no-furniture look in decorating. It is part of the search for a natural environment to escape tensions of everyday living.

A no-furniture pad may resemble a carpeted grotto that uses spun nylon on everything — from shag rugs to movable mounds that become chairs, couches and even tables. Some decorators call such a scene a modern caveman's castle. The moveable mounds — er, chairs and such — are made of nylon stuffed with sfot plastic pellets or shredded plastic foam.

Amy Vanderbilt

Using 'doctor' title

"DEAR MISS VANDERBILT: As a former instructor at Vanderbilt University, I question your statement to the effect that Ph.D.s there prefer to be called Mr. Perhaps you can explain this. — S.R., Miami, Fla."

I have said several times that Ph.D.s at Vanderbilt prefer to be called Mr., and this is true also at Harvard, although in many colleges and universities the holder of a Ph.D. is more likely now to be called Dr. than Mr. In response to your letter, I discussed the matter again with Chancellor Heard at Vanderbilt who seems to be in agreement with me. He wrote me as follows:

"I prefer to be called mister (or chancellor, when that is appropriate) and have made it clearly known that I do not like to be called doctor. (I especially do not like to be called 'Doctor' without 'Heard' attached, as patients are inclined to do in speaking with their physicians. One U.S. senator, whom I admire, insists on doing this, and so far I have forgiven him.)

"When I was graduate student at Columbia before and after World War II, faculty members were invariably addressed as Mr. I held a visiting faculty appointment at Harvard for a year in the mid-1950s, and my expereience there was the same.

"I do not doubt that customs change, and this one may have in those two places. In any event, it is correct to note that in many universities the title doctor is used with great frequency by holders of the Ph.D. degree.

"In preferring the use of mister, I suspect some inverse snobbism is involved. The bland assumption is that everyone here has a Ph.D. so there is no need to proclaim it. Along with that, I think, goes the assumption that if one does not, he does not need one, otherwise he would not be on the faculty. With me it is a matter of tradition. I like calling physicians doctor and I like to think that persons who are called doctor are physicians.

"I consider irrelevant the question of whether it takes more time or work to earn a Ph.D. than an M.D. degree. I spent seven years writing one book and do not expect to be addressed as author in reward.

"And then there is the famous story of the visitor to Harvard 65 or so years ago who was told that the President was not in town that day, he was in Washington seeing Mr. Taft."

Let's Ask The Cook

I seldom do a real rave review of any cookbook, however good it may be, but the American Heart Association Cookbook deserves every superlative you can think of.

Although it was printed in 1973, it didn't come to my attention until recently. Perhaps I checked through it with more than usual care since our son-in-law was hospitalized recently with a severe heart attack, but I am sure it has been a long time since I have seen a specialized book of this type with so many attractive, even sophisticated recipes. It is a book well worth owning and using even if you are in perfect health, because it doesn't read like a "diet" cookbook at all. Published by the David McKay Co., New York, the 400 page volume is priced at $7.95.

As a sample here is minted peas. Place a 10-ounce package of frozen peas in just 2 tablespoons water with ½ teaspoon salt added. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and cook covered for 3 to 5 minutes. Then dot with 1 tablespoon butter and pour in 1 tablespoon creme de menthe. The flavor is unique.

Aspic canapes are something else that will be a conversation piece. You will need 1 can beef consomme, 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin, 2 tablespoons Marsala wine, chopped parsley, 8 pimiento strips and 3 hard cooked egg whites.

Oil 24 miniature muffin tins very lightly. In each sprinkle a few grains of coarsely ground black pepper and some chopped parsley with chopped hard cooked egg white and pimiento. Heat the consomme, dissolve gelatin in the hot liquid. Take from heat; add wine. Pour into muffin tins and chill until firm. When set, loosen around the edges with a knife and unmold on very thin bread rounds.

You might think that french fries would be taboo, but not when they are done this way. Peel 4 medium potatoes, cut into strips about ½ inch wide. Dry well on paper towels, then toss in a bowl with 1 tablespoon oil just as you would salad greens.

When well coated spread them out single layer on a cookie sheet and place in a preheated oven for about 35 minutes. Turn strips periodically to brown on all sides. For a crisper and even browner potato run them under the broiler for a minute or two. No specific oven temperature was given but I would say 350 to 375.

Most book shops will have this book or can order it for you, or you may call your local Health Association for information. Included in the book are many valuable tips on what to buy, what to avoid, and what to look for on labels.

The leaflet, "Glamour Easy Angel Food Desserts," is yours by sending 10 cents and a long, stamped, self addressed envelope to Nan Wiley in care of Progress-Bulletin, Register and Tribune Syndicate, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa 50403.

Teacher from Mexico is exchange instructor

MRS. ZATARIAN

Although she is a grammar school principal in Guadalajara, Mexico, Mrs. Rosa Maria Zatarian has found it challenging to instruct history, geography, art and folk dancing for 24 students at Hamilton School in Pomona this summer.

Mrs. Zatarian is one of three teachers from Mexico visiting Pomona during the summer school session under an exchange program between the two countries. The other two are men. In all 44 U.S. teachers are in Mexico and an equal number of Mexican educators are scattered across this country during the five-week project.

The wife of a teacher and the mother of two small youngsters, Mrs. Zatarian has been teaching 14 years. She is from a family of eight children-four men and four women-all of whom have professional careers.

Mrs. Zatarian's school in Guadalajara has 1,000 students. She is principal in the morning when only girls attend. The boys, who attend the same school in the afternoon, have a male principal.

Educators in Guadalajara attend special teacher training schools, she reports. At present, she is also taking ciasses from 6 to 10:30 p.m. to qualify for an advanced degree.

At Hamilton School, Mrs. Zatarian teaches students of Mexican descent, speaking in Spanish.

While she had two years of English in college, this has been her first opportunity to converse with English-speaking people.

Mrs. Zatarian claims that she had no preconveived impressions of the United States before she arrived. The trip was planned so quickly, she adds, that she had no time to reflect upon her expectations.

"But I've loved every minute of my visit. People have been so kind and helpful. The exchange program is wonderful and I hope it continues so that others may participate," concludes Mrs. Zatarian.

Royals sweep Angels

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — Maybe Dick Williams should dress the Angels in gray traveling uniforms and move over to the first base dugout at Anaheim Stadium.

The Kansas City Royals dealt Williams his 13th straight loss at the Big A Saturday night as Bruce Dal Canton knuckleballed the Royals to a 6-3 decision over the Halos.

The Angels do not look like the team that won seven of 10 on its last road trip. Unfortunately, they look exactly like the shopworn Angels that lost 11 in a row before leaving on the road trip.

"Our pitching was poor tonight," admitted Williams. "(Ed) Figueroa was off. A couple of walks at the wrong time, errors, poor feeds on double plays and we got only five hits. It all adds up."

Figueroa (1-3) was rapped for four hits and two runs in two-thirds of an inning and departed in favor of John Cumberland in the first stanza.

Cumberland was tagged for two more runs as he gave up eight more hits in five and 1-3rd innings.

Still, thanks to Ellie Rodriguez' three-run homer in the fourth, the Angels trailed only 4-3 when Dave Sells came on to pitch in the seventh.

Sells promptly walked two of the first three batters he faced. Two fielders' choices scored a run and the visitors hadn't had a hit in the inning.

Williams, who abhors mistakes, must have been burning. A good reliever does not come in and allow leadoff hitters to get on base. Sells allowed the leadoff batter to reach base either by walks or by hits in each of the three innings he hurled.

Meanwhile, Dal Canton (6-4) tightened up considerably after Rodriguez' roundtripper. The large righthander retired the next 15 batters in a row, giving up only a two-out single to rookie Bruce Bochte in the ninth inning.

Dal Canton struck out four. His only two walks were issued just ahead of Rodriguez' homer.

Lee Stanton had a two-out double in the first inning. But Frank Robinson, who failed to get the ball out of the infield in four trips, grounded out.

Singles by Orlando Ramirez and Denny Doyle put Halo runners on first and third with two out in the third inning. But Stanton grounded out.

"They (Kansas City) got a lot of hits (16) and three of their four runs came after two out," Williams pointed out. "We didn't do that. I'm learning more (about the team) everyday. I know what has to be done, but I'd like to slip in a win along the way."

The Angel manager was upset with the execution. The Royals scored again in the eighth although they shouldn't have.

George Brett beat out an infield hit. Fran Healy bunted on the first base side of the pitching mound. It appeared either Sells or Bochte could have handled the ball. But each apparently thought the other would. It went for another hit.

With Freddy Patek at bat, the Angels expected a bunt. Bobby Valentine, who played the last two innings at short, broke toward third and Bob Oliver at third broke toward the plate. But Sells unaccountably delayed pitching the ball until Valentine was nearly at third. Patek simply pushed the ball through the vacated shortstop position for a run-scoring single.

"The pitcher has to unload when the shirtstop breaks," grimaced Williams. "We'll be working on these things and they WILL execute properly, I guarantee you."

ANGEL ANGLES — Minnesota invades Anaheim today for a one-day two-game stand. Lefthanders Andy Hassler (2-4) and Frank Tanana (6-13) will start for the Halos. Dave Goltz (3-5) and Vic Albury (4-7) go for the Twins. First game starts at 1 p.m.

Rams, Broncos battle on even terms

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

Sipping a beer after their scrimmage at Cal Poly Pomona Saturday, Los Angeles Ram coach Chuck Knox had little to say.

But then again, there wasn't much to talk about.

The Rams and the Denver Broncos "fought" it out on even terms during their controlled scrimmage at Poly's Kellogg Field, both teams netting two touchdowns during the hour-long affair.

It was not, artistically or otherwise, much of a show for the major reason that neither team can field much in the way of veteran players, due to the strike activities on the part of the NFL Player's Association.

The sum total of experience by the combined Ram and Bronco personnel who showed up Saturday was somewhat less than the number of knee operations Joe Namath has had — and it showed.

Surprisingly, the game drew a large crowd at Kellogg Field, attracted no doubt by the presence of Rams' Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti, the free admission to the event, and a large brush fire which burned in the hills south of the school through the activities.

The picket line of Bronco vets stayed well out of sight of those in attendance, restricted to an area near the Cal Poly gym by state law. There were no incidents like that which marred a recent scrimmage in Green Bay, when a number of NFL vets were arrested for picketing.

Knox was asked if he was pleased with the day's results. "It was what I expected," the laconic Ram mentor murmured," I didn't see any surprises today."

"It was good that we avoided injuries," he offered. Then he thought for a moment and added, "I'll know more after I see the films."

When Knox views the day's rushes he will no doubt need a program to tell one player from another. Beyond the presence of Cappelletti, the Ram squad bears as much resmblance to last year's championship outfit as Knox does to Bronco head coach John Ralston.

Ralston, in contrast to the tight-lipped Knox, was more than happy to talk about the scrimmage, and felt his squad had the edge on the afternoon.

"For our first scrimmage, we did pretty well," Ralston said. "Our enthusiasm was good, and it was good to avoid any serious injuries. Of course, nobody hit hard enough to get hurt," he smiled.

"It was awfully ragged at times," Ralston admitted in a more serious tone, "but we will be ready for the regular season. We are ging to the Super Bowl, with or without the vets," beamed the eternally optimistic Bronco skipper.

The game-like conditions did give a few of the rookies a chance to shine. Cappelletti, running behind the inexperienced Ram line, still managed 30 yards in seven carries. Steve Burke was the most impressive of a trio of Ram signal callers, while Tommy Thompson complemented Cappelletti by gaining 28 yards in five totes.

Ontario's Jon Keyworth, being converted to fullback by the Broncos, ran for 19 yards in six carries. Quarterback John Hufnagel was off target most of the day, finishing with four completions in 11 attempts. Rookie Bob Biggs of Cal State Davis clicked on two of three passes, the two completions good for both Bronco touchdowns.

Boyd Brown nabbed one of the TD tosses, while Tom Straham caught the other. Pomona's Claudie Minor continued to impress in the Denver offensive line, and may have won a starting job come the regular season, with or without the striking vets.

Hank Aaron cuts Dodgers' margin to 4½

ATLANTA (UPI) — Hank Aaron drove in four runs and hit his 726th career home run Saturday night to give knuckleballing Phil Niekro and the Atlanta Braves a 10-0 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The loss reduced the Dodgers lead over Cincinnati in the National League West to 4 ½ games.

Aaron, involved more in controversy than in hitting of late, drove in the Braves' first run with a first inning single and highlighted a five-run seventh with a three-run homer, the 13th of the year for the 40-year-old superstar.

Aaron stirred up a ruckus earlier this week when he objected to not being offered the job of replacing fired manager Eddie Matthews. The post went instead to Clyde King. Friday night, when the Braves' game with the Dodgers were rained out, Aaron pushed a box of strawberries into the face of sports writer Frank Hyland, who had written that Aaron had "double-talked" on the managerial issue.

Dusty Baker also had a big hand in Atlanta's assault when he hit two solo homers and a double and National League batting leader Ralph Garr had three singles and a double in four at-bats.

Niekro, 10-9, gave up two of his hits in the third inning, then retired 12 men in a row before giving up another run in the seventh. The only extra-base hit yielded by Niekro was a triple by Dave Lopes with two out in the eighth.

Coggins makes good contact

CLEVELAND (UPI) — When Rich Coggins says he makes pretty good contact at the plate, he isn't kidding.

Coggins, who swung the bat only seven times in six trips to the plate Friday night, slammed five hits, including a double in the 11th inning that sent Al Bumbry home from second with the go-ahead run as the Baltimore Orioles rallied for a 9-5 victory over Gaylord Perry and the Cleveland Indians.

"This is the first time that I ever got five hits in a game and Perry threw me sliders and sinking fast balls," said Coggins. "I am a believer in luck as far as hitting goes. It just depends on how things are going. The first part of the season I hit the ball hard but the hits just weren't falling in."

Coggins, who is in his second year with the Orioles, is a product of Pomona's Garey High. His big night Friday raised his season average to .244.

Players play it 'straight' this time

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — Striking National Football League players "played it very straight" Saturday at the Hall of Fame enshrinement ceremonies and rookie-dominated game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills, but they'll be actively attempting to stop any future exhibition games, according to NFL Players Association executive director Ed Garvey.

"We had a lot of our players say let's let them play that game because it'll demonstrate to the public what a fraud is on the field," Garvey said. "This will encourage season ticket holders to write in asking for a refund. I thought the NFL owners would have more pride than to put on that kind of show."

But the main reason the players didn't try to interrupt the nationally-televised game or the induction of Dick "Night Train" Lane, Lou Groza, Tony Canadeo and Bill George into the Hall of Fame, was that the day and its purpose meant a great deal to the striking players.

"We have nothing but respect for the people at the Hall of Fame and somebody like Tony Canadeo," Garvey said. "He's on the board of directors of the Packers and a good friend of many Packers. All you can do is applaud those people and you certainly don't in any way want to detract from them. I think it's a lot different than any upcoming game in Los Angeles or Green Bay.

"We just don't believe those games can go on. We'll be talking to the rookies. We already have indications from a number of rookie teams that they will vote not to play in the games.

"I think this will bring the owners to their senses. When the fans have a chance to take a look at a game like they saw today, they'll realize it's certainly not worth eight dollars. It may be worth a buck and a half somewhere."

Garvey said the owners were "giving tickets away in droves because all the union people were giving their's back."

A sell-out crowd of 17,286 was reported even though several unions supported the NFLPA on the picket lines and by boycotting the game.

John Thompson, director of the Management Council representing the owners, saw things a bit differently than Garvey.

"It was an excellent day for the National Football League and for professional football. It did much to project an image to the fans, one that's needed, that despite the internal difficulties, there is still an NFL. We're very proud of our rookies.

"I'm sure there were a lot of veterans out there (picketing) who would have liked to play. It would have been a disgrace to have anything happen to this particular game. All the money goes to the Hall of Fame and, after all, this is a hall for the players themselves. I think everybody profited from its playing."

North stars scramble to Shrine victory, 9-6

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

PASADENA — Overcoming an inability to score, the North scrambled to a 9-6 victory over the South Saturday night in the 23rd Annual Shrine All-Star Football Classic at the Rose Bowl.

Mark Reed of Chatsworth decided the game in the North's favor with a 32-yard field goal that broke a 6-6 tie late in the third period.

Until that point, the North had marched almost at will but had only six points to show for it after failing to score twice from inside the 10 yard line.

For the game, the North, lead by Los Altos quarterback Dennis Sproul, Redlands' running back Bruce Gibson and Sprouls' Los Altos teammate, Robert "Binky" Benton, amassed 301 yards total offense to the South's 168.

Gibson and Benton, with help from others, rushed for 71 and 67 yards respectively as the North crunched to 188 on the ground. Sproul connected on 12 of 24 passing attempts for 113 yards, but he was intercepted twice by South cornerback Lou Runfola.

The South scored first on its first series of the evening, driving 79 yards with the opening kickoff. A four-yard pass from quarterback Rick Costello of La Mirada's Neff High, to wide receiver Dennis Thurman of Santa Monica gave the South a 6-0 lead with only 3:36 gone in the first quarter. Thurman's run off of a fake kick for the extra point was stopped.

After failing to score when Benton fumbled at the goal line on its first series, the North marched to the tying touchdown as the first period ended.

The key play in the drive which began at the North's 39 yard line was a 17-yard pass from Sproul to Chaffey's Harley Stark. The play gave the North a first down at the south 27 and following an exchange of turnovers — an interception and a fumble — Gibson punched the ball into the end zone for the North from the one yard line. Following an offside penalty by the South, Gibson's run for the extra point was blunted shy of the goal line.

The UCLA-bound Stark caught two passes on the evening for 25 yards and was a key blocker on sweeps by Sproul, Gibson and Benton.

More than 39,000 high school football fans came out to watch the game from which proceeds benefit crippled children of the Shriners Hospital in Los Angeles.

Saturday's game marked the first time in the series of games that players from both teams were selected from Southern California. In previous years a team from Northern California met a team of southern all-stars.

Jorge Tejeira a big winner

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI) — Jorge Tejeira won the first four races at Del Mar Saturday and unbeaten Lightning Mandate scored an easy victory in the $21,200 Oceanside Handicap.

Tejeira, a 25-year-old Panamanian who is campaigning at Del Mar for the first time, increased his four-day victory total at the meeting to 12.

Lightning Mandate, the 3-5 favorite ridden by Alvaro Pineda, won by three and a half lengths over 9-5 second choice Kafe Bush.

La Verne eliminated from Legion playoffs

By TIM CLARK
P-B Correspondent

LOS ANGELES — Palisades Post 283 scored six runs in the first inning off Gary Zakem and his La Verne teamates in route to coasting to an easy 12-6 victory Saturday afternoon at Sawtelle Soldiers field to eliminate La Verne from the tournament.

It was clear from the start that Zakem just did not have it, as he opened the game by walking Rick Arredondo on five pitches. Arredondo advanced to second base on a passed ball, and scored on a double down the third base line by Steve Vaughn.

Zakem then gave up a single to Kieth Hurrington and hit John Riffel to load the bases. Vaughn scored on a ground out, and was followed home by Hurrington and Riffel when John Grabukeuka doubled off the left field wall.

Now trailing 4-1, a hesitant Dan Drake decided to let Zakem continue. Jim DeVannes greeted the La Verne hurler's next pitch for a double to deep right center to score Grabukeuka. Opposing pitcher Lorin Carr then banged home DeVannes with a sharp hit, and that was all she wrote for La Verne.

After giving up six earned runs in 1-3rd of an inning, Drake lifted Zakem in favor of brother H.P. Drake.

La Verne had enjoyed a brief 1-0 lead in the first inning. H.P. led off, with his only hit of the day and then made a clean steal of second. Two outs later Rick Ortega shot a single to right to drive in Drake. (Ortega finished the playoff series with a .571 average.)

Palisades starter Lorin Carr pitched a good six innings for his teamates. Carr baffled many opposing La Verne batters with a wicked curve, which helped him to attain a total of six strikeouts.

La Verne enjoyed its biggest inning against Carr in the seventh, when it accumulated three runs off the tiring junkman.

Bruce McNaught, Steve Hines, and Dave Maloof all cracked succesive singles, Maloof's hit scoring McNaught. Hines scored on a groundout and Maloof came home on a walk pitch. This made the score only 8-6 in favor of Palisades at the time.

Palisades wrapped up the game in the eight as it scored three un-earned runs, due to errors by Carl Davis and Drake.

Leading the 17-hit attack for Palisades was Garabukeuka. The husky left fielder cracked out four hits, including his two run double in the first and a home run blast in the seventh off La Verne reliever McNaught. Grabukeuka amassed five RBI's and three runs scored to add to his already impressive total.

Palisades will now face Sylmar at 11 p.m. today at Sawtelle to decide the championship. Sylmar beat Palisades handily Thursday night 14-2, so it figures to be the favorite in the double-elimination tourney.

Lane speaks up for blacks

CANTON, Ohio (UPI) — Former Detroit Lion defensive back Dick "Night Train" Lane, enshrined Saturday in the Professional Football Hall of Fame here, said blacks should "not be dealt with any longer as the step children of pro football."

"I hope the black players will band together to deal with the problem of no black coaches, no black general managers and few black quarterbacks in pro football," said Lane.

Lane, and former stars Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns, Bill George of the Chicago Bears and Tony Canadeo of the Green Bay Packers were installed in the Hall of Fame Saturday.

Among those present for the enshrinement ceremonies was Vice President Gerald Ford, a former University of Michigan Football star.

Ford was introduced by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle and said he was "very, very humble and very, very envious" of the four enshrinees.

"These men have achieved a success that I deep down in my own heart would rather have achieved than the office I now hold," he said in a light vein.

Lane, who was presented for enshrinement by his high school coach, W.E. Pigford of Anderson High School, Austin, Tex., also commented on the current NFL players strike and called on both sides to point the sport "back toward the betterment of our league and not toward personal gain."

Dick O. Bourguignon, vice president of the Packers, pointed out in presenting Canadeo that the NFL Players pension plan does not apply to players who were active before 1959.

"He (Canadeo) played for 11 years," said Bourguignon. "But players today do not think the players of this era contributed enough to the game to qualify for decent pensions."

Groza was presented by his former coach Paul Brown who is now head coach and general manager of the Cincinnati Bengals.

"Brown told me to always hold myself out as a good example of professional football and I hope I have," said Groza.

George was presented by Bears Vice President Ed McCaskey. The former all-pro linebacker said he hoped present day players could "install back into football the same spirit we all enjoyed in it."

Northwest loses in District finale

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

Klaus Ellingsen bopped a three-run homer in the first inning and went on to hurl a four-hitter as Glendora South Hills claimed the District 20 Little League crown by beating Pomona Northwest 8-5 Saturday night at Pomona's Ted Greene Field.

Northwest hurt its own cause by allowing five unearned runs, but Ellingsen's first inning blow gave Glendora a 4-0 lead and from that point they were never headed.

Pomona hurler Kevin Bivens surrendered singles to Jim Cox and Pat Kennon and Bill Hanyon reached on an error to open the first.

Kennon drove in Cox, and set the stage for Ellingsen's three-run homer over the rightfield fence.

Northwest battled back in the bottom of the first. Alvin Fruga and Buddy Mathews opened with singles, and Bivens reached on an error as Fruga scored.

Ellingsen then uncorked a wild pitch to bring in Mathews, and with cleanup hitter Gerald Wilkinson at the plate Northwest looked like it was ready for a big inning.

But Wilkinson, after sending a long foul out of the ballpark, struck out and Dewayne Webster grounded into a double play.

Glendora made it 6-2 with two more runs in the third, chasing Northwest starter Bivens.

Northwest came up with two in the home half of the third, on two walks, Mathews' single, and an error, but Glendora scored unearned tallies in the fourth and sixth to give Ellingsen a cushion to work with.

The Glendora righthander fanned six men in the final three innings to ice the triumph and send South Hills on to the Sectionals at Bloomington.

Both teams received pins as District 20 champs and runnersup donated by the Pomona Jaycees, and Glendora claimed its first District 20 pennant ever.

Upland Foothill advances

Upland Foothill won the District 23 Little League Baseball title Saturday night with a 4-3 win over Upland National.

Foothill scored twice in the second inning, added two more in the fourth and then held on to nip Natoonal.

Three of Foothill's runs were unearned as the Nationals committed five errors. Jeff Kobold, in relief of Steve Smith, picked up the win. Jeff Wolf paced the winners' attack with a pair of singles.

Todd Taylor was the tough-luck pitcher and went four-for-four at the plate including a third inning homer. Wes Kent, who went two-for-four, followed Taylor's blast with a solo home run.

District 62-composed of all-stars from Westminster and Huntington Beach scored three runs in the top of the seventh inning at La Palma Park in Anaheim to nip District 20, 4-3, in the opening round of the Big League Division 3 Tournament.

A triple, a single, an error and two scoring fly balls accounted for the three last inning markers for District 62.

District 62 tied the game 1-1 in the fifth but District 20 bounced back for two runs in the bottom of the inning on an error, a walk, Robbie Franklin's second hit of the game and Jerry Loftis' scoring fly.

District 20 will start Church Gallagher today in a 5:30 p.m. game. The tourney is a double elimination affair.

Mark Alba squeezed home Bill Long with the winning run in the bottom of the sixth inning as Carl's Jr. nipped VFW 4-3 in opening round play of the Senior Division City playoffs at Ralph Welch Park.

Ontiveros singled home two fifth inning runs for Carl's while VFW used two walks, an error and two passed balls for two runs in the sixth.

Carl's plays Market Spot Monday night at 5:30 p.m.

Faberge scored seven times in the first inning and Jackie Phillips hurled a one-hitter as Faberge blasted Espinus, 13-2, in the second game of the city playoffs.

Phillips' only hit was to Mike Doesch in the third inning.

Faberge's offense was supplied by Kevin Sanders who drove in three runs with two singles, and Bill Fisher and Edward Harness with two hits each.

Ted Bowsfield leaves Angels

ANAHEIM — Ted Bowsfield has resigned his position as stadium operations and team travel director with the California Angels to become director of King County stadium, the new super dome complex in Seattle, Wash.

Ed Munson, the Angels' publicity director, will assume the additional duties of team travel director for the remainder of the season.

Dick Foster, administrative addistant to general manager Harry Dalton, has been appointed stadium operations director on an interim basis. The appointments of Munson and Foster are effective immediately.

Bowsfield, 39, was a pitcher for the Angels in 1961 and 1962, and joined the front office as assistant to the stadium operations director in 1965. He has served as stadium operations director since 1968 and team travel director the past two seasons.

Martin in semis, stuns No. 1 seed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seventeen-year-old amateur Billy Martin scored an astonishing upset over No. 1 seeded Stan Smith Saturday, 6-3, 1-6, 76, to gain the semifinals of the $100,000 Washington Star-News Tennis Tournament after defending champion Arthur Ashe was ousted by Argentina's Guillermo Vilas.

Nichols takes lead after third round

TORONTO (UPI) — Veteran Bobby Nichols took the topsy-turvy lead after the third round of the $200,000 Canadian Open Saturday, shooting a 68 for an eight under par 54-hole total of 202.

Lee Trevino, who had the lead briefly in early play, and Mike Hill were one stroke back at 203. Tom Scheele was another stroke back at six-under-par for three rounds.

Second round leader Juan "Chi Chi" Rodriguez, who shot a record tying 63 in Friday's second round, ballooned to a 74 and was among five players at 205.

Larry Ziegler, who set the competitive course record for the 6,788-yard Mississaugua country club course in the second round and who had trailed Rodriguez by one shot going into play Saturday, also had bad luck and came in with a 73, joining those at 205.

Nichols, the 38-year-old pro from Akron Ohio who has been on the tour since 1960, jumped into the lead from fourth position.

Temperatures soared to the high 80's during the third round and humidity was high. A swirling wind made conditions more difficult than during the first two rounds when the field of 150 made a mass onslaught on par.

There was continuing controversy over the charges by several players including Jack Nicklaus and Trevino that the course was set too easily for a major tournament.

Mississaugua club organizers joined in the criticism and said that tee and pin placements— short in some cases—were an insult to their course. They lodged an official protest with the tournament players divison of the U.S. Professional Golfers' Association.

PGA officials and those from the Royal Canadian Golfers Association however, denied that the course had been made deliberately easy. They said that tee placements were made because of threatening bad weather. They attributed overly wide fairways to a lack of growth of rough caused by three weeks of dry weather before the tournament.

Jack Nicklaus, who shot a 72 was among seven players at 207.

Nichols said his round "wasn't spectacular." He said that Saturday's weather made the greens harder. "You couldn't fly them in like yesterday, (Friday)."

Davies right about boxing in San Diego

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mickey Davies, a man who's been connected with boxing one way or another for four decades, saw something in San Diego that didn't appear to be there. He turned out to be right, too.

"I always thought San Diego was a great fight town," the 55-year-old promoter said. "It was just a matter of getting in and working hard. The rest took care of itself."

In a city that has been a graveyard for boxing promoters since World War II, Davies has turned a nice profit. He began staging weekly Friday night cards June 8, 1973.

"In all that time," he noted, "we've only had four losing programs. We've had very, very good success."

Davies, former matchmaker for the Olympic Auditorium and the Forum here, has given the San Diego fight fan his money's worth.

Heavyweight champion George Foreman has boxed an exhibition there and Davies' cards have included such names as Jimmy Heair, Duane Bobick, Armando Muniz, Bobby Chacon, Hedgemon Lewis, Denny Moyer and Art Hafey.

Why has Davies been successful in a city where others weren't?

"The key," he explained, "is working at it. The other fellas before me were doing it as a sideline. They all had other jobs to do. The box office was open only on the day of the fight.

"Now it's open six days a week. I had some seven-day, 15-hours-a-day work weeks. And I didn't have another job. That's why we've been successful."

"It's a wonderful place to watch a fight," he said. "It's built something like the Olympic Auditorium. We've fixed it up and we've had many, many full houses."

Since he resides in Huntington Beach, Calif., the San Diego promoter must drive 87 miles— about an hour and 15 minutes— to his job. As a result, he stays during the week at a San Diego hotel.

Pro football clubs seeking quarterbacks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Football League exhibition season swings into full gear this week and as long as stars like Joe Namath, John Hadl and Terry Bradshaw honor picket lines their places at quarterback will be taken by John Jones, Dave Ottmar and Frank Kolch.

Who?

With only a scattered number of veterans reporting to camp, National Football League clubs found themselves with a horde of unknowns to lead their clubs into pre-season play.

While Namath works his arm into shape in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Jones, a walk-on from little Fisk University, will quarterback the New York Jets. His backup will be Mark Olejniczak, whose chief claim to fame is that his father is president of the Green Bay Packers.

At Los Angeles, where Hadl turned the Rams into contenders last season, Ottmar, a backup quarterback and punter at Stanford last season, and Steve Burke of Purdue will call signals.

Pittsburgh has three fine quarterbacks in Bradshaw, Terry Hanratty and Joe Gilliam but Kolch, a 13th round draft choice from Eastern Michigan, and Leo Gasienica, who's been knocking around with minor league clubs since his graduation from Rutgers, will call plays.

Only two name quarterbacks —Kenny Stabler at Oakland and Roman Gabriel in Philadelphia—crossed picket lines while Miami does have veteran Earl Morrall in camp. But everywhere else, the question is the same.

Who?

Morrall will share duty with Kenny Polke, a free agent from Dayton, while Neil Graff, a former Wisconsin star who's been out of football for two years will be replacing Jim Plunkett for New England.

In Kansas City, rookie David Jaynes, the highly-touted passing star from Kansas, has been running the Chiefs' complicated offense along with rookie Ken Pettiford of Tennessee State. And at San Diego, John Unitas' sudden retirement left rookie Jesse Freitas of San Diego State as the only quarterback.

Leo Hart, who has bounced around with a few clubs with little success, will be at the controls for the New York Giants while Joe Theismann, the former Notre Dame star who's been playing in Canada the last couple of years, will try to make Washington fans forget Sonny Jurgensen and Billy Kilmer.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry, who had problems the last few years choosing between Roger Staubach and Craig Morton, now has to select from rookie free agents Marty Ginestra of Temple and Clint Longley of Abilene Christian.

Charles Napper was the No. 4 quarterback for Green Bay last season but he may be No. 1 for the duration of the strike while San Francisco's Dick Nolan will have Dennis Morrison of Kansas State and Tom Owen, a 13th-round draft pick from Wichita State.

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — A few years ago, Charlie Finley showed up in Seattle to take a look at the lay of the land, assess the financial status of the community and take a reading on the enthusiasm of its sports fans.

Finley was seeking a new home for his American League baseball team, then berthed in Kansas City, and he was impressed at first glance.

Mayor Dorm Bramam didn't greet Finley but he did send out a functionary to say hello. When no one else showed up, Finley said goodbye and moved his A's to Oakland where they became world champions.

Now Seattle, with a new set of civic leaders and officials, is hustling for a new big league franchise and there is hardly a soul among the two million living in this metropolitan area who doubts that majors will be playing in the King County domed stadium by 1976.

Despite the snub Finley suffered seven years ago, the A's would seem to be the odds-on favorite to make the switch to Seattle. The tremendous talents of the A's appear to be going unappreciated before sparse crowds in Oakland, except, of course, during World Series time.

But New Orleans has a big new stadium that also needs a baseball team and the Louisianans reportedly are leaving no charm unturned in displaying their southern hospitality toward good ol' Charlie and his A's.

No one in a position to make such a momentous decision as moving a baseball franchise has said any of these things in public.

American League President Lee MacPhail, who accompanied Kuhn on that trip, acknowledged that Seattle was in line for an existing franchise rather than an expansion arrangement. But the question of which one remained unanswered.

The A's are down almost 115,000 in attendance this year, even though they are the defending world champions, are leading in their division and have Reggie Jackson in the fold.

The San Francisco Giants also are having difficulties at the gate, leaving an impression that the Bay Area won't support two major league teams. Maybe this is the excuse Finley needs to move the A's elsewhere.

But if Finley goes South with his A's, who will be around to satisfy Seattle?

Well, there is Minneapolis. The Twins haven't been doing too well at the turnstiles. And there is Baltimore. Reports indicate the Orioles are available for $10 million.

Transfer of a franchise from an area where only one team is playing might be inviting another law suit such as the one Seattle has hanging over the heads of the American League for moving the Pilots out of here to Milwaukee after the 1969 season.

It is Seattle's suit that has given the city a lever to pry loose a new franchise. The case is being held in abeyance until January on the promise that positive action will be taken by that time toward returning major league baseball to Seattle.

Arm problems scrubb Wise

BOSTON (UPI) — Boston Red Sox pitcher Rick Wise, besieged with arm problems all season, was scrubbed as the starter Thursday night in Detroit and was not to pitch until doctors here could examine X-rays taken in St. Louis earlier in the week.

Wise, who has suffered tendonitis since pitching on a raw day in April, was to return to the Red Sox rotation in the second half of the season after seeing just 46 innings of action before the All-Star break.

Wise had X-rays taken in St. Louis during the break and doctors "say they think they see something that we didn't see here," said a Red Sox team spokesman. Sox team physician Dr. Thomas Tierney said he could make no comment until the X-rays were received and examined.

Wise, 3-4 with a 3.94 earned run average, accompanied the team to Detroit. He said following a workout in Boston Wednesday, "It's only speculation but I may not be able to pitch" again this season.

KNX will broadcast the stretch drive replays of each of the day's nine races, six days a week, immediately after they are legally available.

BALD MEN GROW HAIR!

Baldness and/or unhealthy hair can have many causes including heredity, disease or diet. If your baldness and unhealthy hair or brittle fingernails are caused by a lack of one of the many elements found in the food supplement Bio-Folic H, you may make recommendations like the ones listed below.

Charles Bowen, pictured here, took 3 tablets of Bio-Folic H each day for six weeks. It works naturally. Instead of hair transplants, hair pieces or scalp treatments Mr. Bowen grew his own hair. He still takes Bio-Folic H and his hair continues to grow thicker.

Chet Holcombe, newsman for the Santa Barbara News-Press interviewed Charles Bowen and said "After witnessing all these testimonials and all the new hair that has grown on Charles Bowen's head since the article I wrote in December of last year I am convinced as he about the value of Bio-Folic H in growing hair. I must agree with him that the authorities who have said flatly that they know of no cure for Baldness and/or thinning hair haven't heard of Bio-Folic H."

Barbers, beauticians and hair stylists have been selling Bio-Folic H in their shops. Their customers have reported new hair growth, curtailed hair loss, softer, shinier and healthier hair growth. Vital Energy now offers Bio-Folic H direct to you.

Older golfers get boost

By PHIL ROCHE
P-B Staff Writer

Chain-smoking Paul McGuire of San Gabriel is a 45-year-old who proved last Sunday that experienced golfers are oftentimes the best. McGuire's been a pro for almost 25 years, but he believes his game now is as sharp as ever. He proved it by winning the Southern California PGA tournament at Mission Viejo last week, defeating Ron O'Connor, a young squirt of only 31.

McGuire is fun to watch. He doesn't take much time, simply gets up and knocks the ball straight down the fairway. He's smooth and fairly loose. In fact, asked why he was playing so well, he said, "I just loosened up a bit on my swing and relaxed."

He's one of those players who stay down on their shots. The ball takes off, and McGuire is still watching the spot where it was, his head kept perfectly still.

Thinking the other day about some of the finest young players in the Pomona Valley, and Jim Porter's name high on the list of qualifiers for the Southern California Amatuer reminded us of three top-flight players from Claremont.

Porter is number one at UCLA, Jon Fiedler is one of the four top players at USC, and Dave Brownlee is a winner on the pro western tours. They were all outstanding a few years ago under Coich Ron Skaggs at Claremont High.

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is at least one optimistic voice crying forth amid all the worry about the slumping stock market.

It belongs to John Bennett, senior vice president for investment management at the Boston-based Putnam Management Company which handles assets of $1.6 billion in 10 funds.

Aside from the continuing study and research Bennett performs in handling millions of investment dollars, he bases this optimism on what he calls "The Presidential Cycle Theory."

Logic behind the theory builds on what Bennett says is the Federal Reserve Board's traditional attempt to rev up the economy in the year or 18 months prior to presidential elections. He says the Fed turns on the money spigots to avoid angering a political party on the grounds that monetary policy cost it the election, as happened in 1960.

Basically, says Bennett, the Fed tends to fight inflation through a tight money policy in the only slack political period it can find, the 12 to 18 months immediately after a presidential election. He points out that from 1927 to 1973 seven of nine economic peaks occurred in the first year of presidential terms and every bear market since 1927 began in the first half of a presidential term.

"The Presidential Cycle," says the man from Putnam, "again appears to be at the point in time when monetary and fiscal policy normally become expansive in preparation for the coming presidential election."

The third years of presidential terms, says Bennett, have been the strongest years in the stock market, citing 1951, 1955, 1959, 1963, and 1967 as exceptionally good stock market years.

On balance, from 1927 to 1973, total return on the Standard & Poor's Stock Index averaged 14.59 per cent in the third and fourth years of presidential terms. Expressed another way, the investment result in the second half of presidential terms was 84 per cent higher in the second half than the first.

From 1947 to 1973 stock returns were 14.83 per cent on average in the third and fourth years versus 10 per cent in the first and second years, or 47 per cent greater.

Bennett says that from 1927 to 1973 the aggregate performance of stock market returns, growth in the money supply and real GNP were 58 per cent higher in the second half of a presidential term than in the first.

"If history repeats itself, as we believe," said Bennett, "we should be in a period of accelerating money growth as we approach the 1976 election. In fact, money supply growth has been acelerating since late last fall. And we would expect the inflation rate to decline in the second half of 1974."

Consumer price index watches buying habits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The way the government figures it, Sam Sixpack is an average American blue collar or clerical worker who spends 55.6 cents out of every $100 he earns for haircuts.

Mrs. Sixpack spends 22.3 cents of every $100 on seamless nylon hose.

Together, they spend 86.4 cents of every $100 for steak, 11 cents for bananas and $5.18 for food away from home, including 84.4 cents for snacks. Out of the same $100, the baby sitter collects 32 cents, college tuition takes 33 cents and bowling fees 33.5 cents.

The government says this is the way we live and spend our money — and then adds "maybe."

In 1967, $100 would buy $100 worth of goods at then prevailing prices. Today it takes $144 to buy the same goods.

There are some problems, however, with this statistical portrait of America: Sam Sixpack represents only 45 per cent of the nation's population, and American buying patterns have changed.

To resolve the problem, the government's Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) has asked Congress to provide funds to devise a second index covering 80 per cent of the public, not just blue collar and clerical workers.

The Bureau already is working on the second problem. It is trying to find out how Americans spend their money and where, with an eye to revising the present cost of living index.

We now live in a world of long hair, trash mashers, panty hose, fast food restaurants and cars with fancy standard equipment once considered accessories.

We also shop for our goods and services at discount houses, suburban shopping centers, convenience stores and mail order houses.

"We've changed our shopping habits but those changes have not been reflected in our statistical portraits," according to Julius Shiskin, Commissioner of Labor Statistics.

That's why the government is spending $38.7 million to overhaul the Consumer Price Index, as required by law every 10 years. The new revision is scheduled to be completed in April, 1977.

About 800 thousand United Auto Workers received wage increases in June because their pay is linked to the cost of living to protect them against unreasonable inflation. The increase came to 13 cents an hour at Ford, Chrysler and General Motors.

Aluminum workers covered by a contract negotiated by the United Steelworkers got 44 cents an hour more in March and another 13 cents an hour in June because of an increase in the price index.

Shiskin believes that more than 5.1 million Americans are covered by wage contracts tied to the price index. The number is increasing steadily and the concept now is being applied to some pension plans.

"Some 46 million persons now find their incomes directly affected by the index," Shiskin said. "Included are almost 29 million Social Security beneficiaries, about 2 million retired military and federal civil service employes and survivors, 600 thousand postal workers and about 13 million food stamp recipients."

Also affected by the index, he said, are the 24 million children who eat lunch or breakfast at school under the National School Lunch Act and the Child Nutrition Act of 1966.

Because so many Americans have a stake in the index, every care must be taken to make sure it is a reasonably accurate reflection of normal spending habits.

"At present," Shiskin said, "a one per cent change in the index can trigger an increase of more than $1 billion in income under various escalation programs. An error of only one-tenth of one per cent can thus lead to the misallocation of more than $100 million."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors stayed on the sidelnes this week and stock prices dritted, closing mixed on the New York Stock Exchange. The trading pace lightened.

The Dow Jones industrial average lost 3.37 to 784.57. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 1.14 to 82.40. There were, however, 911 issues higher, 799 lower, among the 1,947 traded.

Concern remained strong throughout the week about inflation and rising interest rates. And there was caution in advance of the President's Thursday evening economic address which provided no surprises.

Late in the week, there was both good and bad news for investors which made things even more difficult for the market. Major banks held the prime rate —that charged key corporate customers —at the record 12 per cent level of recent weeks following a report late Thursday by the Federal Reserve Board showing business loan demand on New York's 12 leading banks declined $239 million, the first drop in seven weeks.

But Friday, the government reported it had a $255.8 million trade deficit which wiped out the surplus of the first five months of the year. This news helped depress stock prices and the Dow Jones industrial average lost 11.11.

There was little other news to spark any action.

Considerable interest centered on ESB Inc. which was the week's most active issue and up 16 ½ to 36 on 1,451,000 shares. Internatonal Nickel of Canada Ltd. and United Aircraft are in a bidding contest for the common shares of the firm.

On Thursday, ESB said it favored United Aircraft and filed suit in a New York federal court to block Inco's bid which has reached $41 a share. United, which has bid $38, had no comment on the Inco bid.

National Semiconductor was second most active, off 2 ⅜ to 11 ⅝ on 635,600 shares. This activity was aided by a block of 365,000 shares at 11 on Thursday.

Johnson & Johnson took the worst beating of the week, losing 11 ⅝. Some other drug firms also came under pressure. Merck lost 7 & and UPjohn 5.

Electronics and computers took a pounding. IBM lost 11 ½, Digital Equipment 11 ⅛, Honeywell 7 & and Burroughs 6 ¼.

Oil issues bounced around throughout the week with many sharply higher on news of excellent second quarter earnings, Superior Oil, which has been under pressure lately, gained five points.

Among other big losers were Corning Glass, off 7 ½; General Data 6 ¼, and Coca-Cola 5½.

Surgery frequency higher for doctors, their wives

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — The frequency of surgery on physicians and their wives is higher than for other professionals and their relatives, a Stanford University study showed.

The majority of operations on doctors' wives are hysterectomies, the report said.

"Operation rates for physicians and their spouses were found to be as high or higher than rates for other groups," Drs. John P. Bunker and Byron W. Brown Jr. said in the report published by the New England Journal of Medicine.

"Overall operation rates for physicians and for the other professional groups studied were estimated to be 25 or 30 per cent higher than for the country as a whole," Bunker and Brown said. "The results presented suggest that as the public becomes more fully informed, the demand for surgical services will increase."

Those who took part in the survey included members of the Santa Clara County Medical Society and the Bar Association, Protestant ministers in Northern California and Stanford graduate students.

The rate of hysterectomies among doctors' wives exceed 50 per cent by age 65, compared with the national rate of 33 per cent, the study showed.

WAR-DEATH CONTINUE IN VIETNAM
The peace treaty for Vietnam was signed in January, 1973 with the United States as a signer. Since that time the USA has been a party to the following violations:
Article 2: of the Paris Agreements states: "The United States will stop all of its military activities against North Vietnam by ground, air, and naval forces." The FACT is the United States continues to make military reconnaissance flights over North Vietnam.
Article 4 states: "The United States will not continue its military involvement of intervening in the internal affairs of South Vietnam" BUT this year the United States is sending to Saigon $813 million of military aid and it plans to send $1 billion to support and to improve South Vietnam's army.
Article 5 of the Agreement states: "The United States will totally withdraw all military and police advisers from South Vietnam" FACT: The United States last year sent 8,000 "civilian" advisors for Saigon's military and police.
Article 9: "The United States will not impose any political tendency or personality on the South Vietnamese people." FACT: U.S. is keeping Thieu in power by paying over 80% of Thieu's national budget. US officials concede that it is Saigon troops who have launched the bulk of the post-ceasefire fighting.
ESTIMATED COSTS FOR 1975 OF UNITED STATES INVOLVEMENT IN VIETNAM is $3,227,750,000. OUR TAXES WILL PAY THIS HUGE AMOUNT!
Write NOW to your Senators and your Representative to stop using your taxes to violate the Paris Peace Agreements of January 1973.

MIKE McCASLAND

Mike McCasland has been presented sales awards by the Pomona Valley Board of Realtors' multiple listing service for the greatest number of sales and the most listings sold during June.

McCasland has been a realty board member since July, 1973, and associated with the Red Carpet Realtors office for 18 months.

He won the firm's salesmen awards twice for listings and was selected as top salesman last month.

CARNIVAL

"TRY TO WALK ON YOUR TIPTOES!"

DEAR POLLY — To avoid having a pincushion under my elbow when using the sewing machine I take a foam hair curler apart, slip the foam part over the extra spool holder and stick the pins in it. — PEGGY.

●

DEAR POLLY — A good substitute for longees underslacks is the pants from a pair of lightweight pajamas. I prefer these to the long underslack "drawers." They give extra warmth, as well as make good liners for those pants so thin one can see through them. — EVANGELINE.

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for those mothers who still prefer using cloth diapers. When folding after washing, apply powder to the inside of each. This takes less time than individual powdering at changing time and provides baby's nursery with that nice, baby-fresh aroma we all love. I keep a tin of baby's powder with my laundry supplies just for this purpose. — MRS. B.T.G.

DEAR POLLY — To make packing for camping easier I made a fitted holder for small cooking utensils. It's made of heavy cotton twill and is rolled up and tied for easy carrying. — AMY.

(Polly's note - Such a holder would be similar to the flannel type flat silver so often comes in.)

DEAR POLLY — To prevent having spoiled food in the freezer, it is important to remember to mark the dates on the packages when they are put in. Also, arrange them so the first things in are the first out. — BARB.

DEAR POLLY — Before riding my bike I always fold my pants at the bottom and snap them with clothespins. This keeps the pants from getting stuck in the chain, or becoming torn or greasy. — LENORE.

DEAR POLLY — After hand washing my mohair sweater I put two wrapping paper tubes in the sleeves so there were no creases when the sweater was dry, it dried faster, too. — CONNIE.

●

DEAR POLLY — Last year we had so many crickets. I solved the problem by gathering a few hedge balls as soon as they fell from the thorny tree and placed them as needed to prevent roaches and crickets from infesting our house. They could be placed in the garage, the path or hiding place of the insects. Such balls should be secured in the early fall. — E.W.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

BILLY DRY JR., OF COMMERCE, OK, ASKS: "HOW DID THE 21-GUN SALUTE ORIGINATE?"

THE CUSTOM OF GUN SALUTES BEGAN LONG AGO, WHEN GUNS WERE LOADED BY HAND. UPON THE APPROACH OF A FRIENDLY SHIP, ALL THE GUNS OF THE FORT WERE FIRED TO DISARM THEM AS A TOKEN OF FRIENDSHIP, FOR EARLY GUNS COULD NOT BE SPEEDILY RELOADED. TODAY GUN SALUTES SOMETIMES HONOR DISTINGUISHED PERSONS. THE NUMBER OF SHOTS IS DETERMINED BY THE RANK OF THE PERSON BEING HONORED. A 21-GUN SALUTE IS FIRED FOR HEADS OF GOVERNMENTS. 19-GUN SALUTES ARE FIRED FOR AMBASSADORS, ADMIRALS AND OTHERS OF EQUAL RANK. SALUTES OF 17 GUNS OR LESS ARE FIRED FOR LESSER RANKS.

FUTURE FILMMAKER

Radames Pera may be only 13 years old, but already his list of film credits is as long as his arm. Radames, who portrays young Caine on ABC's Kung Fu, Thursdays (9-10PM), has been working in front of the camera for more than 5 years. However, an acting career is not what this young man has in mind for his future. "I'd really like to get into film directing," says Radames, "I really enjoy that part of the film industry." On the Kung Fu set, Radames shows more interest in the cameras, lenses and lighting. But that's not saying he is not interested in his acting, because when he gets in front of the camera he suddenly becomes only "Radames Pera-Actor." "I really enjoy doing Kung Fu, he remarked, "because besides giving me acting experience it is also allowing me to learn a lot about philosophy." Pera's debut in films came when he was cast in the role of Anthony Quinn's son in "A Dream of Kings." After that came "Gidget Gets Married," followed by several television appearances—"Lassie," "Cannon," "Night Gallery."

'Dedicated Doctor'

"The Last Angry Man," the story of an outraged, compassionate and often amusing doctor practicing medicine in a poor section of Brooklyn during the 1930s, repeats on the ABC Wednesday Movie of the Week at 8:30PM. The screenplay by Gerald Green, based on his own popular novel and subsequent movie (released in 1959), stars Pat Hingle as Dr. Sam Abelman and Lynn Carlin as his wife, Sarah. Tracy Bogart portrays the Abelman's 16-year-old daughter, Eunice, and Paul Jabara is the doctor's nephew, Myron, who lives with the family. Featured in the cast are Michael Margotta, Andrew Duggan and Sorrell Booke. The story concerns doctor Abelman's fight to save the life of a troubled teenage boy, one of the hoodlums who has pushed the doctor into making plans to leave his old neighborhood.

COVER CLOSE-UP

'BROTHERS THREE'

In show business brothers used to come in threes. There were, for example, the Marx Brothers (yeah, yeah—Zeppo and Gummo had already left the act by the time Groucho, Harpo and Chico were making it big), the Mills Brothers (that fourth guy, the guitarist, wasn't one of the brothers), the Ritz Brothers and the Ames Brothers. Why, even Stooges used to come in threes. So it should come as no surprise to the world that the newest brother act on the scene is also a trio. They're 24-year-old William Louis Cabrini Hudson II, 22-year-old Mark Jeffrey Anthony Hudson and 21-year-old Brett Stuart Patrick Hudson, and they'll make their television debuts on Wednesday at 8PM, as the stars of the weekly Hudson Brothers Show, a summer comedy-variety series that will air for five consecutive weeks and present Andy Griffith, Danny Thomas, M*A*S*H star McLean Stevenson, Ken Berry and Ray "Don't look, Ethel!" Stevens as special guests.

Also on the list of guest performers are English puppeteer Rod Hull and the Love Machine, W. W. Fancy and Kool & the Gang musical groups. Heading the supporting cast for the series are comics Stephanie Edwards, Ronny Graham and Gary Owens.

In the fall the Hudsons will shift to Saturday mornings (11:30-12:00 Noon) to star on The Hudson Brothers Razzle Dazzle Comedy Show, a series that producers Allan Blye and Chris Bearde contend will appeal at least as much to adults as to kids despite its time slot. Blye and Bearde are firmly sold on the Hudsons, being the producers of the summer series, too. Basically, the Hudson Brothers do two things: they make music and they perform comedy.

How well? Producer Bearde says, "They're wild and wacky—something like the Marx Brothers—and musically they sound a lot like the Beatles. And on top of that there is a very appealing, disarming quality about them." Thus far in their careers the brothers have been performing a lot of material they, themselves, have written, and they've written plenty of songs, comedy skits and comic plays—and they've even created an animated film musical based on their own art work.

Their main claims to fame at the moment consist of two modestly-successful records and the tours they have made as the opening act on the bill for such hit attractions as Herman's Hermits, The Supremes, The Who, The Fifth Dimension and Glen Campbell. As unknowns they seem to have a background that promises much. Of course, the same could have been said of the Titanic, but the judgment of Blye and Bearde, who discovered the Hudsons for television, cannot be taken lightly. They have a smashing track record, having produced, between them, such hit series as The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour, The Andy Williams Show and The Sonny & Cher Comedy Hour.

The Hudson Brothers—are nephews of actor Keenan Wynn and natives of Portland, Ore., where, under the coaching of their ex-singer mom, they began singing together and noodling around on musical instruments for their own amusement. The eldest, Bill was 8 and the youngest, Brett, was just a tot. To date they've had no other training as entertainers except those early lessons from mom. By the time Bill and Mark were in their 'teens the boys were giving paid musical performances at high school dances and free performances of their comedy material at high school assemblies.

Soon they resolved to go south to Hollywood and be recording stars—but they didn't have enough money to make the trip. So they settled for Seattle, where they sought out a regional record company and demonstrated their talent. The roundabout result was their recording of their own song, "When I'm Gone," on the Scepter label. The success of that platter won for them those aforementioned tours, and some hanky-panky by their manager caused them to wind up nearly flat-broke in Miami, Fla., at the end of their last tour.

They again visited the Seattle record company, and the result was their recording of a Harry Nilsson song, "I Guess God Must Be in New York City," another modest hit. Three months later they accidentally met Chris Bearde at a house party, and 18 months after that Blye and Bearde invited them to hire on with Blye-Bearde Productions for what were to become The Hudson Brothers Show and The Hudson Brothers Razzle Dazzle Comedy Show.

Still razzle-dazzled himself by the double-barreled blast of good luck that has struck him and his brothers, it was in a triumphant tone of voice that hopeful Bill Hudson crowed the other day: ". . . And the rest is history!"

Quiz: What Your Nose Knows That You May Not

Ford's Lee Iacocca

"More cars out of less materials, that's my bag.... Detroit's done it before; it can again. Yankee ingenuity, call it what you will."—Lee Iacocca

GM's Edward Cole

AMC's William Luneburg

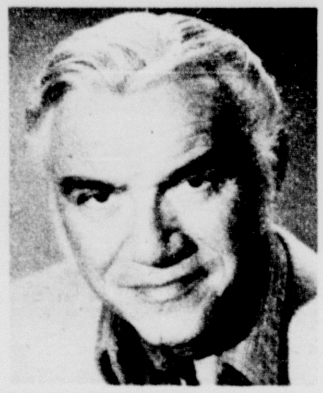

Chrysler's John Riccardo

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR LORNE GREENE

I read that you are costarring with Charlton Heston and Ava Gardner in "Earthquake." Have you ever experienced a real earthquake?—R. S., Albany, N.Y.

● Have I! Three years ago I woke up about six in the morning to see my wife Nancy standing beside the bed, looking around in a most peculiar way. I said, "What's the matter?" She said, "Quiet. I hear something. Something terrible is going to happen." I told her to go back to bed. A few seconds later our little girl, who was three then, toddled into our room, terribly worried, and climbed into bed with us. She barely made it when the earthquake started. We jumped out of bed, threw some bathrobes over us and ran downstairs to stand in the doorway. Luckily, we suffered little damage. I still don't know how my wife and daughter sensed the earthquake.

FOR MARGARET TRUMAN DANIEL

Were you brought up with the idea that there was the possibility that your father would one day be President of the United States?—F. A. Bible, Tulsa, Okla.

● Not at all. I grew up knowing my father was in politics, but that was just his job. It wasn't anything special. In fact, I didn't really think of his actually being President until Roosevelt died.

FOR MYRNA LOY, starring in "Airport '74"

● My real name is Myrna Williams. Actually, if you can believe it, at one time they wanted to change my name to Myrna Lisa.

FOR EARL WILSON,

Why did you wait so long to tell the story of the romance between President John F. Kennedy and Marilyn Monroe? —Donald Morton, Teaneck, N.J.

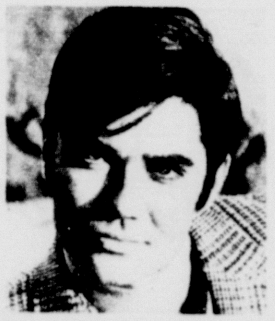

● I was only moved to write it after the Norman Mailer book confused everybody. I realized I was the only one writing about her who really knew her.

FOR HELEN THOMAS, journalist

You seem to be the journalist through whom Martha Mitchell likes to get her thoughts into print. How do you get in touch with her, and do you believe what she says?—Mrs. Mary Regan, Utica, N.Y.

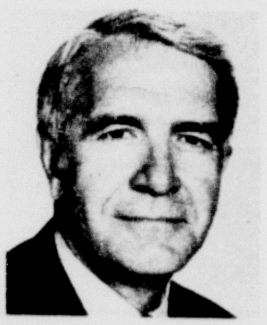

● You don't call Martha Mitchell, she calls you. She's an old-fashioned girl. She has a sense of what is right and she always tells you the truth. If she tells you something, you can believe it implicitly.

FOR REX REED, movie reviewer

How many movies do you see a year? Would you care to see any of the movies you've seen recently again?—H. R. Johnson, San Antonio, Texas

● I see about 300 movies a year. The only one I've seen recently that I would see again is "That's Entertainment"—a two-and-a-half-hour tribute to the lavish old MGM musicals that lives up to its title and revives my faith in movies.

FOR HARRY REASONER

Since your move to the job of anchorman of ABC-TV news, you have become a celebrity. How do you like this new role?—Thomas Dunn, Atlantic City, N.J.

● The celebrity value of a network anchorman has been much exaggerated. A couple of years ago I called myself a "Grade B" celebrity, and maybe now I'm up to B-plus. People recognize the face, but a lot of them get the name wrong. Not long ago a guy came up and said, "Hi, aren't you Curt Gowdy?" And there aren't any groupies for newsmen, either.

FOR TERRY ANN MEEUWSEN, Miss America 1973

Do you think Miss America contestants should be allowed to have previous professional acting or entertaining experience?—Vernon Schroeder, Potter, Wis.

● Yes. Any previous experience that might be of help to a contestant should be looked upon as beneficial. Someone who wants to play professional ball doesn't receive a scholarship on his good intentions but rather on his proven ability to play well. Those of us who choose to enter the entertainment field don't get there by hoping and dreaming.

FOR HARVEY KORMAN of "The Carol Burnett Show"

How do they make the walls that you're always falling through in the skits you and Carol do?—Scott Dodge, Lewiston, Idaho

● They're usually painted canvas, carefully scored or loosened in some way so there are no injuries. When we go through a window there are usually several mattresses to land on. But injuries are still a possibility.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

Has Sandy Duncan fully recovered from her eye operation, or is she still learning how to cope with it?—Peter Peck, Orlando, Fla.

● Sandy Duncan has recovered physically, bu' finds she still has problems emotionally. She reports her biggest adjustment is her "subconscious" when she meets people. She finds she doesn't look them "straight in the eye" anymore, because if she does, they will look her straight in the eye. And she tries to avoid that. Miss Duncan said this philosophy carried her through: That God didn't single her out, that when God realized what had happened, He pulled her through. She also said if ever there were times when she lapsed into a deep depression, she visited a hospital: "Seeing people so much worse off than I was made me realize I had much to be thankful for."

A Special Report:

What Are the Cars in Detroit's "New" Future?

By Jerry M. Flint

The immaculately dressed president of the Ford Motor Co., Lee A. Iacocca, is talking in his huge modern office at Ford World Headquarters in Detroit:

"We're now exploring quite radical cars. The '79 stuff I saw on the drawing boards yesterday is exciting, very exciting!" He paused, as if having second thoughts. "Well, I'll have to bring them back to earth a little. The stylists' job is to dream...." He broke off, not completing the thought: Namely, that his job is to make sure the stylists' dreams sell.

It has been a turbulent year for car manufacturers. After decades of smooth sailing, Detroit has suddenly been clobbered with a series of crises and mini-crises: inflation . . . consumerism . . . environmentalism . . . and—most serious—a shortage of the stuff that makes the cars go.

Can Detroit adapt? Is American industry still flexible enough to reappraise itself, change direction and retool for the different needs of a different society?

"You want to get some weight out. In three or four years we won't get 1,000 pounds out, but maybe 300 or 400 pounds," or close to ten percent. But by 1979, five years away, "We'll get that 1,000 pounds out of a car as you know it today. We'll have to start with a clean sheet of paper. It's very easy to spend $1 billion for a family of cars. . . ."

There still will be big, luxurious cars—the Lincolns and Cadillacs and Chryslers—but they'll be the size of today's ordinary standard-size car, closer to 4,000 pounds than 5,000-plus pounds, according to the prediction of Detroit designers.

But the biggest sellers will be about 200 inches long, weigh around 3,000 pounds and be sized between today's compacts, such as Chrysler's Valiant, and today's intermediates, such as Ford's Torino.

"Any shift to small cars will be to the compacts," agrees Chrysler's president, John J. Riccardo, "which ideally fit the needs of the American family for space, comfort and fuel economy."

AMC is also opting for the controversial rotary engine. A rotary engine may weigh a third less than a conventional V-8 yet produce as much power. A small, light engine needs less supporting structure—opening the way for massive weight cuts that save gas. "The rotary's a good bet," says Gerald Meyers of AMC, "and we're betting on it."

"We'll have better seats and handling, that's the wave of the future, too," says Ford's Iacocca. "Better visability. We'll get rid of the blind spots with better mirrors. You say it's minor, but I say they'll save more lives than all the headrests [ordered atop front seats by the government as a safety measure]."

Also promised: A quick, easy-to-use, one-motion seat belt that comes out of the seat back, replacing the dangling spaghetti-harnesses of today and eliminating much of the trouble.

And as a bonus, Mr. Iacocca predicts that an exotic-sounding item—the on-board computer – will be working by 1979. It will probably measure—very precisely—the amount of fuel flowing to the engine or pollutants going out, saving fuel and curbing fumes every second. And the computer will attune itself to weather and road conditions. The computer could control brakes, preventing skids, and warn a driver if any part of his machine wasn't functioning correctly. Quite a dramatic—and effective—contraption!

The computer is still being tested. The initial model filled the back seat of the test car Mr. Iacocca drove home. The next model was a big box that filled the trunk. But before it's finished, the computer will be flat enough to hold between your thumb and forefinger. "And when we get it to $100 or under, we'll put it in somewhere," he says, "before 1980."

A new class of automobile, called minicars or commuter cars, will be on the road by '79. They will be tinier than today's sub-compact Ford Pinto or General Motors Vega or American Motors Gremlin. "Two liters [about 80 horsepower], 2,000 pounds, $2,000" is the way Mr. Meyers, AMC group vice president, describes the new models. He figures they'll account for 10 or 15 percent of the market.

In styling, many 1979 cars will be boxier outside but more glamorous inside. A preview of what's to come may well be Ford's 1975 Granada and Mercury Monarch. Ford gave

Here's What Car Makers Will Offer This Year

General Motors: The Chevrolet Vega sub-compact will get a brother, a sporty Monza two-plus-two, while sleek Vega versions will appear at Pontiac (Astre), Oldsmobile (Starfire) and Buick (Skyhawk). GM's compact cars also are restyled for '75, and next spring GM offers a new, smaller Cadillac. Within two years GM is expected to be building a tiny 1,800-pound car—about the size of a Volkswagen Beetle.

Ford's new Granada and Monarch luxury compacts go on sale this fall, and the small Mustang II will be offered with a V-8 engine. Detroiters report Ford is readying a new tiny car for production in a Spanish plant, and this car might be transplanted to America later if GM builds its midget.

Chrysler offers new, sporty, two-door intermediate-size Dodge and Chrysler and Plymouth models, but for 1976 there's to be a new line of compacts, and by 1977 Chrysler might have its first sub-compact in U.S. production.

Those stunning, sleekly-slim couples who grace the pages of the fashion magazines and society columns...who spend each new Season in New York and Cannes and Saint Moritz and Saint Tropez...who live surrounded by a horde of admirers and photographers must remain youthful and slim right up to 50...60...70!

And, if you were to ask them what they do to maintain their Beautiful People Bodies, the answer would always be the same: "I don't do ANYTHING; I don't diet!"

That's right! The Beautiful People Don't Diet! They enjoy the finest food in the world and yet the needle on the scale barely moves! How do they do it?

For the first time, Luciana Avedon (former Princess Pignatelli and now the wife of the European cosmetics executive, Burt S. Avedon) reveals the "BEAUTIFUL PEOPLE MIRACLE FORMULA" responsible for all those lusciously svelte figures on the society pages. How they NEVER go on fad diets, NEVER take dangerous amphetamines, diuretics or diet pills, and NEVER give up their favorite foods either! How they simply go right on eating the foods they like—but in a special way that keeps them always fashionably slim, without their having to jump on and off the diet merry-go-round.

To give just a few examples:

One California socialite says: "I always keep my weight fluctuation within two pounds. It's bad for the face when you go up and down."

Another stunning fashion leader says: "I weighed more at age 25 than I do now." (She's now 37!)

Another says: "Sitting down to nothing but clear soup or health food depresses me; it makes me feel like an invalid."

But yet they know how to splurge like this without incurring disaster on the scales! They get their food kicks—constantly—but their figures never show it!

They eat the finest food in the world (even the delicacies and "tempters" you'd be horrified to touch), but they do it in a way that never lets them put on more weight than they can simply "peel off" in a few days any time they decide to!

(In fact, these Beautiful People secrets of delicious figure-maintenance are so powerful that, when one young, overweight model was introduced to just one of them, she lost 22 pounds in one month and stayed at that weight from then on! And another young girl, when shown how, lost 20 "impossible" pounds in two short months, even though not a single meal demanded special preparation!)

So, From Now On, Forget About Debilitating Diets! The Beautiful People Don't Use Them—Why Should You?

Once again, let us emphasize that the Beautiful People think dieting is a "bore." They eat well—very well—and they are not fat! They wouldn't think of doing without their favorite foods and the needle on the scale barely changes!

Why then shouldn't you follow their plan and lose weight—pounds and pounds and pounds of it! The process is the same, even if you start with a 50 pound handicap. And you do it all by yourself (without "fat" doctors, or the group therapy approach of diet clubs.) And, yet, (to repeat once again) you do not "sacrifice" the foods you love for a single minute!

Yes, you can still enjoy parties, restaurants, business lunches or dinners, and "super-relaxed" vacations. You can eat all the foods you usually do, and still find the pounds and inches gradually, but permanently, melting off!

Listen, As The Beautiful People Tell You How To:

Condition yourself by developing your own built-in "Fat Radar" so that the minute your weight starts to shoot up, you can shoot it down!

Take off fat while it's still "soft"...before the body has had a chance to make it part of the muscle structure. Before it marbelizes, as in a fat steak, and becomes even harder to lose!

Make the natural diuretic power of food even MORE effective, so that accumulated tissue water drains out of your body faster and you NEVER get that bloated look!

Lose tons of weight—all in the right places—and NEVER get "scrawny" looking in the face. Actually melt unwanted pounds right off your body, and still retain that "youthful" bloom in your face the Beautiful People way!

PLUS...

How to be thin as a model, and still have the energy and stamina of a truck driver!

The Beautiful People's special "Secret Elimination Diet" that disintoxicates your system...drains out internal poisons...at exactly the same time that you are painlessly losing weight!

The Beautiful People "Easy-Diet Plan", a permanent part of your life, so that you continue to lose weight for as long as you wish, and yet NEVER feel deprived!

How to prevent your body from automatically "adjusting" to your first massive weight loss, so that it actually prevents you from taking off even more pounds.

What to do if you are a "sandwich fiend" and don't want to cut them out of your diet.

Why the Beautiful People make sure that they never lose more than 18 pounds at a time.

Why the Beautiful People feel that American men are a "disaster...overweight, over-tobaccoed, over-alcoholed, and undersexed." And, what Beautiful People Males "over 30," do to retain their very special attractiveness.

Yes, The Beautiful People Have Been Looking Fabulous For Years THIS Way. Now You'll Learn How, WITHOUT RISKING A PENNY!

You are just as capable of keeping younger, prettier, slimmer and more attractive as any of the Beautiful People you'll read about in this book. And once you know their "secrets", you'll be well on your way to joining the ranks of all the Beautiful People all over the world, who realize that being beautiful also means being slender

SPECIAL ADDED BONUS:

How The Beautiful People "Smooth Away" Ugly Cellulite, The EASY Way!

Yes, while these Beautiful People are incredibly slim and supple at all ages—actually glowing with good health—they have also learned how to FREE themselves of ugly and distorting CELLULITE! (Cellulite, as you may know, is "orange peel fat"—the hard lumps of hideous fat that stick to the back of the thighs, knees, arms, buttocks and back. The same ripply fat pockets that cause desperation and unhappiness in thousands of American women who cannot walk down a beach, or up to a husband or lover, without feeling unattractive or just plain ugly!)

This is not ordinary fat, by any means. And it can't be gotten rid of by ordinary means. Instead, it's bumpy, hard lumps of toxic material—really a gel-like substance—that become trapped in bubbly, immovable pockets just beneath the skin. It's found in pencil-slim models and housewives alike. In fact, it's reputed to disfigure almost 90% of the women in the world! But not the Beautiful People! Why?

BECAUSE OF THESE TWO SIMPLE "CELLULITE CHASERS" THAT YOU CAN USE YOURSELF RIGHT IN YOUR OWN HOME, STARTING IN JUST A FEW MINUTES A DAY!

No, you don't need fancy doctors, or expensive health spas to be able to bid farewell to these unsightly globules. You can achieve spectacular results simply by following these two simple steps beginning on Page 26:

Second, follow the unique Anti-Cellulite-Food Program that will actually help your natural circulatory system to rid your body of annoying substances BEFORE they can build up and become IMMOVABLE CHUNKS OF FAT!

Both these Cellulite Fighters are yours, as just one section of this great Beautiful People Over-All Body Beauty Plan...yours to read from cover to cover, entirely at our risk!

Cars in Detroit's "New" Future

them Ghia styling, a luxury finish, European-style interiors with deep-plush or leatherlike seats, woodlike interior trim, even hand grips above the doors. Yet these two cars are light enough to carry more economical six-cylinder or small V-8 engines.

But the squared-off look isn't the only future theme. Next February, American Motors will introduce its tiny Pacer, a sub-compact with a downward-sweeping rear end, unlike any car on the road today.

What will be under the hood by the decade's end?

"Fuel economy is at the top of our list," says William V. Luneburg, president of American Motors. "This means less weight and better design, but without sacrificing too much comfort or performance. We can do it, and without running up a lot of unnecessary costs, but it will come a step at a time."

Two new engines will be on the scene. Ford is betting heavily on the Stratified-Charge engine, which the company claims will produce fewer pollutants and more miles per gallon. Ford is ready to build half a million such engines for its 1978 cars. But there's another engine in contention—one that's favored by GM and American Motors: the rotary. This tiny but powerful motor is used already in the Mazda and in a car of Volkswagen manufacture that is sold only in Europe. GM hopes to put a rotary in its small sporty cars before 1975 is over, and AMC wants one in its Pacer a year after its introduction.

Mileage will go up 20 to 30 percent in five years. "Twenty percent we've got to get back," vows Mr. Iacocca. "The 13 percent that was lost in emissions controls and the seven to eight lost by government-mandated weight increases. That means the 20-miles-per-gallon Pinto should go to 25, the 15-miles-per-gallon car should go to 18." Other auto makers are just as determined to boost mileage. "Fuel economy is our No. 1 objective for the next few years, and maybe for a long time," says E. M. "Pete" Estes, GM executive vice president.

"We're not going to get 20 miles to the gallon by waving a wand," Mr. Iacocca says. "Materials technology can get only 50 to 75 pounds out of a car, and trimming 100 pounds adds only four-tenths of a mile per gallon on a sub-compact and only two-tenths of a mile per gallon on a big car." Radial tires, standard on many autos now, add six-tenths or seven-tenths of a mile, and changed axle ratios can add a bit more. There are more complicated changes. Ford's Stratified-Charge engine, in a simple version for small cars, cuts fuel use five to ten percent, Mr. Iacocca claims; a more costly version could curb fuel use 30 percent.

Detroiters don't deny that the press from the government and from safety zealots helped get them rolling to cleaner and safer cars. But now, for example, Mr. Iacocca says 75 to 80 percent of the pollutants from auto engines have been removed. "That's not a bad track record," he says. "Okay, without a law we wouldn't have done it. Damn right we wouldn't have done it, because people just wouldn't have paid the cost of such clean-burning cars.

"What good is it in 1980 to have the cleanest, safest, least damageable car

"What good is it in 1980 to have the cleanest, safest, least damageable car if no one can afford it?"

if no one can afford it?" the Ford boss asks—and he's not whispering, either. The manufacturers complain bitterly that customers already are paying more for complicated damage-free bumpers than they can ever recover through lower repair or insurance costs—paying $10 to save $5, so to say, and more such "savings" are planned in Washington. "I've been in the business for 30 years; I'm talking in Washington to a fellow in it for three days, but he knows. It drives me nuts," says Iacocca.

GM's president, Edward Cole, believes that a small corps of "elitists," powerful men in Washington or "public-interest lawyers," are trying to limit choice. "To an elitist, just about the worst thing imaginable is to give the public what it wants," says Mr. Cole.

New regulations plus inflation have pushed up car prices sharply, and another big boost, perhaps several hundred dollars a car, is due this fall. If these increases continue, auto men fear their customers will be driven from the market, and their business, with its hundreds of thousands of workers, could be depressed.

Mr. Iacocca thinks cost increases can be kept down. "More cars out of less materials," he says, "that's my bag. We're going to be more productive. Detroit's done it before; it can again. Yankee ingenuity, call it what you will."

Smart Cooking For Special Occasions

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen gives chicken a new flavor. Marilyn says: "For a party dinner, why not start with salted almonds and mixed drinks, and follow with Spanish Skillet Chicken, buttered boiled potatoes, a mixed green salad with vegetables and a sprightly Rioja red wine?"

Walter Storck

SPANISH SKILLET CHICKEN

- 2 tablespoons olive or vegetable oil
- 2 garlic cloves, sliced
- 1-3 lb. broiler-fryer, cut up
- 3 medium (1½ lbs.) red or green peppers, sliced
- 2 cups thinly sliced onion
- ¾ cup dry Spanish sherry
- 1 chicken bouillon cube
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced, or 2 cans (6- or 8-oz. size) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 1 cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
- 2 tomatoes, peeled and cut into wedges
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water
- ¼ cup finely chopped parsley

1. Heat olive oil in large skillet over medium heat; add garlic and sauté 2-3 minutes.

2. Add chicken pieces and brown well on all sides (takes about 15 minutes); remove garlic.

3. Stir in red peppers, onion, sherry, bouillon cube, bay leaf, salt and pepper. Reduce heat to low; cover and continue cooking 20 more minutes, stirring occasionally.

4. Add mushrooms, olives and tomatoes; cover and cook 10 minutes. In small cup, combine cornstarch and water until smooth; gradually stir into chicken mixture in skillet. Cook, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens.

5. Remove bay leaf. Sprinkle with parsley. Serve with hot cooked rice, noodles or potatoes.

Makes 4 servings

Plan-Ahead Party Tip: Recipe can be prepared through Step 3. Remove to suitable container, cover and refrigerate. Next day, heat chicken and proceed with Step 4.

SHERRY MARMALADE TART

- 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese, room temperature
- 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- Dash salt
- 1 9-inch baked flan shell or pie shell, your own or a mix
- 1 jar (12 ozs.) orange marmalade
- 2 tablespoons Spanish sherry

1. In medium bowl, with electric mixer at medium speed, beat cream cheese until creamy. Add confectioners' sugar, almond extract and salt. Beat at low speed until smooth.

2. Spread cream cheese mixture smoothly in bottom of flan shell.

3. In small pan heat marmalade, stirring, until it bubbles. Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Add sherry. Pour quickly over cream-cheese mixture. Refrigerate covered. Makes 6-8 servings

*This tart will look prettiest if you use your pie pastry to line a 9-inch flan shell. No flan pan? Line 9-inch pie pan and bring pastry just halfway up side of pan, making a short edge. Line with foil, fill with rice and bake 10 minutes in preheated 425°F. oven. Cool.

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Do You Know About Your Sense of Smell?

True or False: Some people smell odors, scents and aromas that aren't there at all. (See number 4)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Smells can affect your emotions—and even your sense of judgment.
2. How things smell to you depends on how old you are.
3. At a certain age almost everything smells good.
4. Some people smell odors, scents and aromas that aren't there at all.
5. Eating plays havoc with your sense of smell.

ANSWERS

1. True—in a great many cases. British Columbia Research Council studies cite the manifold effects of the emotional impact of a smell. As one example, it's pointed out that "The vast trade in perfumes is based on this, and even such unromantic objects as secondhand cars can be given an added market value by an artfully applied 'new car smell.'" As one investigator has noted in summing up the findings of researchers, the sense of smell and the emotions are intimately linked.

2. True. University studies show that our sense of smell becomes progressively less acute as we grow older. And in a study of people past middle age it was found that more than 25 percent had lost their ability to differentiate between one smell and another or to perceive the odors of various test substances offered them. In another investigation, an even higher percentage of people of retirement age were unable to detect the odor of ordinary gas employed in cooking and heating.

3. True. University studies of small children's olfactory function — or sense of smell—show that infants and small children are actually intrigued by smells that would cause an older person to hold his nose. As one research specialist has observed, the smell of various malodorous substances "is considered pleasant prior to the age of five and unpleasant thereafter."

4. True. Studies show that in such cases the olfactory sense sends the brain false "smell" messages that may run a wide gamut of scents, odors and aromas—ranging from the smell of something burning to an exotic fragrance. In each instance the smell sensation is exactly the same as though the odor were actually present. The experts term this often-baffling phenomenon "parosmia." And it goes to show that a person's nose doesn't always know what it thinks it knows.

5. True—so far as the perception of food odors goes. Researchers have demonstrated that a person's nose has the greatest capacity to detect and appreciate the aroma of various foods before eating. After the appetite has been sated, the sense of smell suffers markedly—and the tantalizing fragrances of delectable viands don't pack the potency they did when the person was hungry.

Veterinarians Explain Why

Itching Dogs Need Special Medication

Each year thousands of veterinarians apply 'special' medications to fight dogs' skin infections. In 9 out of 10 cases tested, healing was rapid with a special formula, SULFODENE.

Veterinarians explain dogs' skin is thinner than humans' and germs that attack dogs' skin are different from human bacteria. This special medication, SULFODENE, helps destroy dog germs and effect prompt healing. Just pat it on. Won't sting or stain.

Also use SULFODENE SHAMPOO. It's specially medicated to remove scales and help keep your dog's skin healthy. Both available wherever fine pet products are sold.

JANNE GRAU
A living miracle

Doctors are still unable to explain why, in some cases, cancer seems to disappear as suddenly as it strikes. Janne Grau, a young German girl, is one of the lucky people. For years, Janne, now six, had suffered from leukemia. About two years ago, the doctors gave up on her case. Although they continued to give her medicine, they did not think she would live. Janne's parents watched her grow worse from day to day. They thought the medicine was a kind of poison to their daughter so they reduced the quantity and contacted an uncertified doctor who began giving Janne vitamins and minerals. The medical doctors disapproved of this natural treatment and refused to see the child any more. Gradually, however, the Graus watched their daughter improve. Today, she is a healthy child. Finding no other explanation, a German leukemia specialist calls it a miracle.

BRIDE AND GROOM
An airy ceremony

And now—drive-in weddings! Reno, Nev., generally known for its speedy divorces, now boasts a new phenomenon: the drive-in wedding. Jane and John Madison were united in holy matrimony while sitting on the back seat of a convertible. The ceremony took only 4½ minutes. Minister Robert Cassady, totally unruffled by the open-air proceedings, said: "We got the idea because many people nowadays seem to object to long ceremonies in church but do want to have a church wedding nevertheless. I think that it is more important to marry in front of a minister than to marry at a registrar's office." Cassady has already had requests for weddings on motorbikes. "I'm not sure about that," he adds, "but who knows, maybe we'll do that before too long." To top off the modern marriage method, the best man paid for the wedding with a thoroughly modern credit card.

QUOTE: George Raft had a long romance with Betty Grable that he reminisces about in a new biography: "We hit all the Hollywood night spots. At first we had two things in common. Neither of us drank and we loved to dance. Between dances we'd have fruit-juice drinks or I'd send for ice-cream sodas, which both of us were crazy about. Sundays

ON THE TRIP OF MY TONGUE

My wife I think is fond of me,
At times enthusiastic,
But not, as I can plainly see,
When I'm a bit sarcastic.

To have around the house.
It has a very special sting
When used by spouse on spouse.

My wife I shall subject no more
To sharp-tongued things I say,
Though I recall, alas, I swore

On a recent business trip to Japan, my husband tried to bring home one of those genuine Japanese back scratchers, but the U.S. Customs Service wouldn't let her in. —Lillian Koslover

A fellow said to his friend, "I'm suffering terribly from insomnia. I've tried all kinds of remedies, but I can't find anything that'll put me to sleep." Said his friend, "Have you ever tried talking to yourself?" —Dorothea Kent

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES

Kids see life differently. Send original contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

When there is a kiddy matinee at the theater where I work, all the kids want to spend every penny they have. Toward the close of one show, a little boy came up and asked what he could buy for four cents. "Nothing, I'm afraid," I replied. "Well," he returned, "then what did you give me four cents back for?"
